Weigh Appeals On Sentence Of Cardinal

Hungary's Supreme Tribunal Considers Demand For Sentence Change

EXPECTS DECISION EARLY NEXT WEEK

BUDAPEST, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Hungary's supreme tribunal weighed today the Communist-controlled government's demand that Josef Cardinal Mindszenty's sentence to life imprisonment be changed to death on the gallows.

Immediately following the Roman Catholic primates conviction and sentencing yesterday by a five-man Budapest 'people's court,' the prosecution demanded that the supreme council of people's tribunals impose the heaviest possible punishment.

Appeals Are Made

Appeals to the higher bench were also made by the 56-year-old Cardinal and four other defendants. Thus, the supreme council has three alternatives; it can impose the death penalty, lighten the prison terms, or let the sentences stand.

Cardinal Mindszenty and his six co-defendants—who received prison terms ranging from life to three years—were transferred to the grim Marko Street prison in Budapest to await the high court action.

A final verdict on the dramatic three-day trial of the Prince of the Catholic church is expected next week.

Possessions Confiscated

The five-man court found the Cardinal guilty of treason, black market currency dealings, and conspiracy against the republic. Together with five of his co-defendants—who were deemed guilty of a variety of similar charges—the Cardinal had all his possessions confiscated by the state.

Hungarian government spokesmen, meanwhile, brushed aside the storm of protest against the arrest, trial, and conviction of the Cardinal.

A foreign ministry under-secretary blasted British Foreign Secretary Bevin for his denunciation of the trial, charging that Britain had no right to criticize Hungarian justice because she was "oppressing human liberties from Greece to Malaya."

New Continent Crossing Speed Record

The Air Force's six-jet B-47 bomber lands at Andrews Field, Washington, D. C., after flying from Moses Lake, Wash., in three hours, 46 minutes, for an unofficial speed record. Just as the plane touched the runway, the pilot released a ribbon-type parachute from the tail of the plane to help cut its speed. Inserted are the pilot (left) Major Russell E. Schleich and the co-pilot (right) Major Joseph W. Howell who made the record breaking flight.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(INS)—An air force Boeing B-47 six-jet bomber on Tuesday flew across the continent in three hours and 46 minutes averaging approximately 615 miles per hour.

The bomber left Moses Lake, Wash., at 10:22 EST and reported over Andrews Field, Md., at 2:08 p. m. EST. The distance flown was 2,298 miles.

This apparently is a cross-country record.

The fastest previous time was made in an F-80 jet fighter on January 26, 1946, when Col. William H. Council flew from Long Beach, Calif., to LaGuardia Field, N. Y., in four hours and 13 minutes at 584 miles an hour.

Pilot of the bomber Tuesday was Maj. Russell E. Schleich of San Francisco and co-pilot was Maj. Joseph W. Howell, of Borden, Ind.

Arctic Winds Whistle Over Western Areas

Thousands Are Stranded In Deep Drifts In Sector—Trains Stalled

DENVER, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Howling Arctic winds whistled in over much of the Rocky Mountain region today and lashed the stricken area with stinging snow whipped off the ground.

The latest blasts—originating in the Alaskan Gulf—brought a slight additional fall to the snow-clogged states of Utah, Wyoming and Colorado.

Thousands of rail travelers and motorists were stranded by deep drifts which reached 18 feet in some spots.

Trains Are Stalled

The Union Pacific railroad said 54 of its passenger and freight trains—including its crack Chicago-Pacific Coast streamliners—were stalled by mountains of snow.

State Police Believe Milton Man Ended Own Life After Wife Shooting

BULLETIN
MILTON, Pa., Feb. 9.—(INS)—The body of Nelson Springer, 25, wanted in connection with the fatal shooting of his 19-year-old estranged wife, Ida May, was found by a search party at 10 a. m. today on Island Park.

State police said Springer apparently took his own life with the same gun used in the shooting of his wife last night on the Susquehanna River bridge between Milton and West Milton.

Mrs. Springers three-year-old daughter and a sister, Donna Rae Musser, 14, witnessed the shooting last night around six thirty o'clock, according to Milton Police Chief Oliver Stoner. The shot was fired from a pistol into the victim's head.

State Trooper Charles E. Hickling, of the Milton sub-station characterized the estrangement a "Maryland separation" but did not elaborate. Springer was believed to have been on furlough from Ft. Meade, Md., where he was on duty with the army.

Stoner quoted Donna Rae, who was taking Mrs. Springer's daughter across the bridge, to describe the shooting.

Assure Norway Would Get U. S. Aid Under Pact

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange has been assured of rapid substantial aid from the United States if Norway were attacked after joining the North Atlantic Defense pact.

This was reported today following lengthy conferences between Lange, Oscar Torp, leader of Norway's majority labor party, Ambassador Wilhelm Munthe De Morigenthiere and top European experts of the State department.

The State department officials were said to have told Lange that the United States will be able to supply a moderate amount of defense materials in the near future and give quick substantial aid were Norway attacked.

Lange reportedly was told also that the pact will not call on Norway to supply bases to other members of the alliance immediately but only in event his homeland is attacked by another power.

Hospital Nurses Open Door; Dead Man Falls Inside

REVERE, Mass., Feb. 9.—(INS)—Nurses at the Revere General Hospital answered the emergency doorbell today, and a dead man fell inside.

The man was identified as Robert B. Holmes, 38, an alleged Boston bookie on parole from a hold up term in the Massachusetts state prison. He was shot ten days ago in a Boston Back Bay hotel.

Witnesses said Holmes body was propped against the hospital door by two confederates who sped off in a black sedan after ringing the emergency night bell.

Marie Sordello and Lillian Crockett, nurses, were having a cup of tea when they heard the bell ring twice. When they opened the door, the victim slid into the outer reception hall. He died at about that very moment.

About an hour later, the victim was identified at the Northern Mortuary by his brother, Charles Holmes.

Secretary Acheson Says Trial And Verdict May Violate Peace Treaty

HUNGARIAN ACTION BITTERLY ASSAILED

By WILLIAM E. ZIMMERMAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Secretary of State Acheson said today the United States may accuse Communist Hungary before the United Nations of violating the Hungarian peace treaty in the "wanton persecution" of Cardinal Mindszenty.

The Secretary of State delivered at his news conference a solemn and bitter denunciation of the Hungarian Communist regime.

He asserted that "the totalitarian controls of state and party have been laid like a deadening hand upon every phase of daily personal existence and the Hungarian people have been divested of any real independence."

Sever Diplomatic Relations?

Asked whether the United States was considering severing diplomatic relations with Hungary, Acheson replied that he would rather not answer that question.

However, Rep. O'Toole (D, N. Y.) announced that he is introducing a concurrent resolution demanding suspension of diplomatic and commercial relations with Hungary until its government guarantees religious freedom.

Acheson bitterly denounced the trial and conviction of the Roman Catholic primates at the hands of the Communist-controlled Hungarian government. He told a news conference:

"Such proceedings constitute not the administration of justice but wanton persecution."

The secretary said the United States is considering appeal to the United Nations Security Council in the cardinal's behalf.

He declared:

"In the conduct of the case of Cardinal Mindszenty the Hungarian authorities do not appear to have omitted any of the usual methods practiced by a police state . . .

"They have evoked universal condemnation, and the Hungarian government must bear full responsibility for its action."

Acheson refused to speculate on measures aside from United Nations appeal which might be taken (Continued on Page Two)

Seek Intervention To Prevent Strike In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Gov. James M. Duff and Mayor Bernard Samuel have been asked to intervene in the labor wage dispute which may result in a paralyzing strike of Philadelphia's bus, trolley and subway lines.

The strike has been set for Friday.

The request for intervention was made by Michael J. Quill, international vice president of the CIO-United Transport Workers union, representing 11,000 employees of the Philadelphia Transportation Co.

Observers pointed out that in a similar dispute last year, Mayor Samuel's intercession led to a new company offer which averted a strike a few hours before the deadline.

Democratic Leader In Senate Is Out Against Truman Tax Proposal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Sen. George (D) Ga., chairman of the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee, came out flatly today against any tax increase before next January.

George's statement, touched off by the sharp break in the nation's commodity market, was a setback for President Truman's request for a four billion dollar tax boost.

The chairman of the powerful Senate committee called for postponement on the heels of a market collapse which saw grain markets tumble their full permissible range for one day.

George indicated he is apprehensive of the stock market and his commodity price slump which within a few days has struck billions of dollars from the values of investments and goods.

George declared:

"My conclusion is that we should not write any tax measure until January of next year."

The veteran Democrat, highly influential in shaping tax policies, said he has felt for some time that Congress should go slowly on boosting the present tax level because of its possible deflationary effect on business.

George said that the market break should have at least the effect of postponing tax action until the end of this session of Congress.

But he made it clear that his preference is not to tackle it until January of next year.

Name Board To Select Teacher For Fellowship

Five citizens were named today as the board of judges for the naming of the outstanding teacher of Lawrence County for this year.

The judges will decide what teacher is to be awarded the fellowship to Penn State for the summer course of study there. The fellowship is made possible through collaboration of the New Castle News and Pennsylvania State College.

On the board of judges are the following: Dr. Frank L. Burton, superintendent of schools, representing the public schools; Earle M. Brookover, representing the New Castle school board; Judge John G. Lamore representing the courts; Miss Grace Dodson, president of the New Castle chapter, Pennsylvania State Education Association; Mrs. Horace Allen, representing the Parent-Teachers Association.

This board will receive the nomination (Continued on Page Two)

Riots Develop In Shanghai

SHANGHAI, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Chinese government troops blocked off the Whangpoo police station in downtown Shanghai today in the wake of a riot of 3,000 civil war refugees from Manchuria.

Two children, six and eight, were killed and other persons were injured late last night when the refugee mob stormed food stores and other shops and then battled police.

It was the first serious outbreak of disorder in Shanghai since China's biggest city came under direct communist military threat a month ago.

The disturbance broke out when the refugees assembled outside the Central bank in frigid weather and launched a demonstration demanding relief payments.

Austrian Peace Treaty Parley Is Being Re-Opened

Conference Affords Soviet Russia Chance To Indicate Any Policy Change

BIG FOUR DEPUTY MINISTERS GATHER

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Representatives of the western powers and Russia re-opened talks on the Austrian peace treaty today, while the world awaited proof of the Soviet Union's willingness to end the "cold war."

Deputy foreign ministers of the Big Four convened at London's Lancaster House today.

The opening remarks of Soviet Delegate Georgi Zarubin—the Russian ambassador to Britain—were expected to indicate the degree to which the Kremlin will collaborate with the West.

Former Meeting Collapsed

Nine months ago, a Big Four meeting on Austria collapsed after more than 100 fruitless meetings. The new parley was called at Austria's request, and the promptness with which the powers agreed to meet has touched off new hope in Vienna.

Western delegates, including Samuel Reber of the U. S., will be on the lookout for any signs of conciliation on the part of the Russians, particularly in view of the recent Moscow "peace offensive."

Anglo-American officials have reacted to Premier Stalin's bids to meet with President Truman by asserting that what the West wants from Russia are "deeds, not words."

Opportunity Presented

The feeling in western quarters is that the Austrian conference will provide the Soviets with ample opportunity to put into action their purported desire to reach agreement with the West.

The Kremlin has evidently fully briefed its representative to the meeting, Ambassador to Britain Georgi Zarubin who recently made a hurried trip to Moscow.

Two major points of East-West difference resulted in the failure of the previous conference.

The first was over the Soviet Union's support of Yugoslavia's claims for the Austrian Province of Carinthia. Whether the mounting bitterness between Russia and the Soviets to drop their support of the Yugoslavs remains to be seen.

Denmark Seeks Information On Military Pact

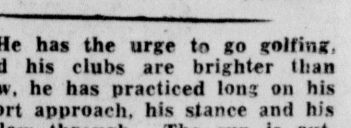

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Danish foreign minister Gustav Rasmussen disclosed today that Denmark, like Norway, is seeking information on the proposed North Atlantic military alliance.

He said the government is now considering whether Denmark wants an invitation to join negotiations for the Atlantic pact, which will link the U. S. and Canada to Britain, France, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

State Proposals Seek To Reduce Sex Offenses

HARRISBURG, Feb. 8.—(INS)—Pennsylvania lawmakers today pledged themselves to campaign against sex offenders.

Four comprehensive measures before both houses prescribed preventive and curative means to cut sex offenses to a minimum.

The bills reflected legislators' determination to answer calls from private citizens' organizations, mental health specialists and police agencies for means to clear communities of the menace.

Violent crimes in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia up to the opening of the present lawmaking session indicated to legislators the immediacy of the problem.

Calls For Tests

One measure in the lower chamber called for mental tests for persons who commit a sex crime a second time. The presiding court would appoint a board of two or three psychiatrists to examine the offender for sexual psychopathic tendencies.

The report would be admissible as evidence in court. If a person was determined a sexual psychopath he would be placed in a mental hospital or released on probation, depending on his condition, liable to period checks by the welfare department.

The bill defines a "sexual psychopath" as:

"Any person suffering from such conditions of emotional instability or impulsive behavior or lack of customary standards of good judgment or failure to appreciate the consequences of his acts. To render such person irresponsible with respect to sexual matters and thereby dangerous to himself and others."

Report 1,373 Crimes

Pennsylvania state police figures list 1,373 sex crimes in the state from June 1, 1947, to May 31, 1948.

A state police spokesman said the number of such crimes is fairly constant from year to year and he pointed out that the figures include only the reported crimes.

FBI statistics showed a total of 71 murders in cities over 100,000 population during the same period. Philadelphia reported 53 murders, Pittsburgh 16 and Erie 3, while reports from some urban communities not available as well as unavailable rural reports.

The statistics on murders did not reveal how many were committed on sexual grounds.

To Create Clinics

A somewhat similar measure in the senate would authorize common pleas court judges to create medical clinics for medical and mental tests of criminal offenders before trial and of convicted persons before sentence. Juvenile courts would perform a like function for delinquent children.

The clinics would determine whether the mental or physical condition of offenders contributed to the commission of a crime.

Conviction for rape would be set at 25 years in jail, instead of 15. Ten thousand dollar fines, instead of $7,000, also were proposed.

Backing up preventive measures was a bill in the senate to create a state mental health authority to underwrite building of new mental hospital facilities, enlarge, improve and equip the present 18 mental institutions.

Executives Club To See Arctic Film

James V. Stowell Will Speak To Club On MacMillan Expedition

Members of the New Castle Executives club will experience the thrill of adventure on Thursday evening, February 24, when James V. Stowell, advertising expert and photographer, will show his film on the Arctic at the monthly dinner meeting of the club in The Castleton. President Orville Flora announced today.

Stowell sailed to the northern regions on the famous Arctic schooner "Bowdoin" as a member of Capt. Donald B. MacMillan's expedition in 1946. His expert knowledge of color values and dramatic action have added much to the success of his film presentations.

The explorer not only captured on film the beauty and realism of the Arctic land, but he painted many portraits of native life of the north.

Stowell has been acclaimed for research and successful work in the field of archaeology by many of the museum and scientific groups of America.

E. and A. Division Employment Shows Slight Decline

Pennsylvania Railroad's system-wide furloughing of 2,500 men has hardly been manifest in the Erie and Ashtabula division, whose headquarters are in New Castle.

According to division superintendent Marion Street, out of more than 2,800 employees in this division, less than 100 have been idled by the present traffic decline.

Street added that most of the layoffs in this division have been with shop personnel and it is anticipated that all employees will be back on the job when the lake shipping season opens, or before.

Tuberculosis Group Plans Open House

Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society will hold "open house" in their new offices Wednesday, February 16. It was announced today by Mrs. Jane M. Cochran, executive secretary.

The society recently moved the clerical office from the Lawrence Savings and Trust Building and its X-Ray equipment from the City Building to combined office in the Greer Building, North Mercer street.

J. Nelson Runyan, George Buchanan, Arthur McGaffie, Andy Peronius, and John Groat contributed their time and equipment so that the moving could be accomplished with a minimum of expense.

The public has been invited to inspect the newly decorated offices and all who attend will be given a certificate entitling them to a free X-ray for themselves or a member of their family.

A representative from national and state headquarters of the society will be in New Castle to attend the "open house" and refreshments will be served.

FOUR CLARK SISTERS SERVE AT NUPTIALS

Four of the bride's sisters served as attendants when Miss Betty Jane Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clark, 707 Monroe street, was united in marriage to J. Norman Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reed Armstrong, New Castle R. D. 1. A large gathering of friends and relatives attended the ceremony which took place Saturday evening, February 5, at 7:30 o'clock in the First Christian church with Rev. W. G. McCune, the bride's great-uncle, reading the single ring service.

The bride was attractive in a gown of white satin, fashioned with off-the-shoulder neckline, fitted bodice and long sleeves, tapering at the wrist. Petite Joy Ann Clark served as train-bearer for her sister whose colonial bouquet was of white rosebuds.

Mrs. Jack Lynn, matron of honor, was attired in an aqua gown, while Mrs. Kenneth Sankey and Mrs. Elinor Mae Clark, bridesmaids, wore pink and blue respectively. Ruffles outlined the off-the-shoulder necklines of their floor-length taffeta gowns. The attendants' bouquets matched their dresses, and bandeaux of flowers were worn in their hair.

Frank Simpson was best man, while William Calderwood and Thomas Richards ushered.

Nuptial music was offered by Mrs. Carl Ryhal, organist, and Mr. Ryhal, vocal soloist. Palms and pastel-hued snapdragons formed a tastefully appointed background for the ceremony, which was followed by a reception for 200 guests in the bride's home, where Mrs. Charles Clark and Miss Ruth Jamison were aides.

After returning from a brief wedding trip, the young couple is residing temporarily with the bride's parents pending completion of their new home on the Butler road.

The new Mrs. Armstrong has been employed at the Shenango Pottery company, while her husband is now an employee of the Pennsylvania Engineering corporation after serving four years in the U. S. navy.

Several pre-nuptial showers feted the bride-elect whose aunt, Miss Jamison, entertained at a rehearsal dinner Friday evening in her home, 328 Highland avenue.

Stevenson Class

At the home of Mrs. Arthur Bratchie, of 510 Reis street, the Laura M. Stevenson class of Central Presbyterian church, met on Monday evening, with Mrs. Willard Matthews, associate hostess. The devotions were led by Miss Elma Robinson, in the form of a Bible quiz.

The class voted to be one of the sponsors of the Westminister Fellowship project which is going forward under the leadership of Mrs. R. M. Patterson.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. H. A. Bratchie and Miss Maude Mitchell. The March meeting will be at the home of Miss Elma Robinson of 315 East Meyer avenue.

The engagement will terminate in an open church wedding Friday evening, February 25, at 7:30 o'clock in the First Congregational church.

EPWORTH GROUP HAS FEBRUARY SESSION

Group Three of Women's Society of Christian Service of Epworth Methodist church was entertained Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Elmer Kerr, Northview avenue. Mrs. Job Hares led the devotional period.

During her talk on "Negro Work" Mrs. Albert C. Howe told of activities of some of the missionaries who labor in Africa. These workers are from the Erie Conference. Mrs. Hares also spoke on "Negro Work" while Miss Florence Thompson offered the Negro "National Anthem" as a vocal solo. A prayer circle for missionaries of the conference and all those whose birthdays are in February closed the program.

Mrs. A. E. Lutton presided when it was announced that Mrs. L. F. Hemenway will teach a study class, beginning Thursday afternoon, February 10, at 2 o'clock in the church. "On Our Own Doorstep" will be the book used for discussion at the class which is open to all Epworth women.

Mrs. James Wigton and Mrs. Kenneth Brown aided in serving refreshments.

Mrs. Russell Rhodes, North Mercer street, will be hostess at her home Monday evening, March 7.

WOLVES AUXILIARY DINNER MEETING

Ladies of the Wolves Auxiliary held their monthly dinner-meeting Monday evening, at 6:30 at The Castleton. Mrs. Ada Prioletti presided.

Election of two new board members, and a new treasurer was announced. The new board members are Mrs. Carolyn Cassalandra and Mrs. Rose Lombardo and the treasurer, Mrs. Mary DeCarbo. Small gifts of appreciation were presented to past president, Mrs. Rose Fazzone and past secretary, Mrs. Clara Marino, by the auxiliary. Plans were made for a bake sale to be held sometime in the near future.

The rest of the evening was spent playing cards.

The next meeting will be Monday, March 7, at The Castleton.

WEINGARTNER CLASS HAS DINNER EVENT

Members of the Weingartner Bible class met in the Epworth church on Tuesday evening for their monthly meeting and sauerkraut dinner. The latter event was enjoyed by a large group.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Norman Clark, program chairman, introduced Samuel Rashid, well known authority on oriental rugs. The speaker took for his subject, "The Arabic Speaking People" and "Oriental Rugs." Both subjects proved highly interesting and were well received.

BESSEMER WOMAN'S CLUB HAS MEETING

Members of the Bessemer Woman's club met in the auditorium of the Bessemer Presbyterian church Tuesday, with Mrs. Joseph Martin, president, in charge. There were 60 members and guests present.

The ladies took small gifts to the meeting which were packed and sent to "Save the Children's Federation."

Mrs. Glenn Stanley was in charge of the program and introduced Yoland Merlino, who sang a solo, accompanied by Norma Davidson. Both are Bessemer high school girls. Mrs. John King gave two readings, "The Keeper of the Light," by Henry Van Dyke, and "Dat Leetle Baw" done in French-Canadian dialect. Shirley Puz, accordionist, then played "You Can't Be True, Dear" and "Rock-a-Bye" polka.

Refreshments were served in the basement by Mrs. Kermit Manewal and her committee.

The next regular meeting will be March 8 in the Bessemer Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Joseph Martin entertained members of the executive board in her home Monday at a 6:30 o'clock dinner. Following dinner the ladies spent the evening discussing matters pertaining to business of the club.

A.U.R. SOCIETY DINNER SESSION

A U. R. Missionary society enjoyed a chili dinner in Central Presbyterian church Tuesday evening, when Mrs. Robert Meade Patterson offered grace.

A valentine floral centerpiece decorated the table, where a tasty meal was served by Mrs. John F. Walters, Mrs. Emerson McGuire and Mrs. Walter Shaw, hostesses.

Using "Love" as her theme, Mrs. E. F. Brown led in responsive reading and prayer. Scriptural verses, containing the word love, were given in response to roll call.

"Unless We Christians Sacrifice," the national topic, was discussed by Mrs. Roland Feden who also offered "God Understands," a vocal solo, with Mrs. Brown as accompanist. "China, Twilight or Dawn," the foreign topic, was Mrs. Clifford M. Propst's subject.

Mrs. Clayton Hofmeister presided when the group voted to have a towel shower for the Presbyterian Home at Chautauque, N. Y., at the next assembly in the church Tuesday evening, March 8. Mrs. Lester Miller, Miss Alisan Leslie and Mrs. E. L. Thompson will be hostesses.

Mrs. John Love and Mrs. Miller were in charge of a valentine gift exchange that followed.

Y.M.P. CLASS HAS HOUSEWARMING

Members of the Y.M.P. class of the East Brook Methodist church met Tuesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Anderson of the East Brook road. The gathering was in honor of the hosts and a housewarming was held in their lovely new home. The members of the class were taken on a tour of the new home and found it very beautiful. There were 38 present.

Games and contests were the diversion of the evening, with Mr. and Mrs. James Fink and Mrs. James Everheart in charge. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Paul Wasserman, Mrs. Harold McConahy, Joseph Snyder and Harold McConahy. A period of group singing also was enjoyed.

A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. George Pontius, Mrs. Paul Wasserman, Mrs. Ruth Pontius, Mrs. Wilbur Downing, Mrs. Howard Fox and Mrs. W. R. Clement. A lovely gift was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Anderson for use in their new home from the class. The presentation was made by the class president, James Fink, and Mr. Anderson made a gracious acceptance.

L.C.B.A. BRANCH PARTY THURSDAY

Members of the L.C.B.A. Branch No. 467 will meet Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, in St. Joseph's hall for an important business meeting, to be followed by a Valentine party.

Hostesses for the evening are: Mrs. Rose Fobes, Mrs. Carrie Onasch, Mrs. Mary Reider, Mrs. Mary Strobel, Mrs. Eileen Shuler, and Mrs. Irene Shuler.

YOUNG PROGRESSIVES FORMAL FEBRUARY 19

The winter formal held yearly by the Young Progressives club is scheduled for Saturday evening, February 19, at the New Castle Country club.

Dancing is to start at 9 p. m. and will continue until 1 o'clock. The music will be provided by a local popular orchestra.

John Cagnetti is the general chairman, and he is assisted by Laura Isabella, co-chairman.

MOESER-BURGIN HOME WEDDING

At a lovely ceremony performed at 7:30 p. m. Friday, February 4, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Mook, of 128 Glenn avenue, Ellwood City, their daughter, Miss Jacqueline Burgin became the bride of Paul B. Moeser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moeser, of Aliquippa. Rev. Philip Seiberling, of Zelienople, officiated at the single ring service, assisted by Rev. E. C. May, of the First Methodist church of Ellwood.

The bride was attired in a colonial style white slipper satin gown, styled with a bustle and made en-traine. Her fingertip veil of tulle fell from a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a Bible, with white roses and streamers of carnations. She wore a strand of pearls, gift of the groom.

Miss Norma Schantz, of Zelienople, was maid of honor and was attired in an aquamarine taffeta gown, also colonial style. She carried an nosegay of tulle and roses.

James Bauer, served the groom as best man.

Following the ceremony there was a reception for the immediate families and relatives. Aides were Mrs. W. D. Manning, Mrs. Karlton Campbell and Mrs. Philip Morrow. The couple then departed on a short wedding trip and upon their return will reside at 325 Orchard avenue, Ellwood City.

Mrs. Moeser attended Shenango high school, as she resided for several years in Castletown. She is a graduate of Lincoln high school, Ellwood City and Mr. Moeser attended McKeesport high school.

WHITE-MIESEL QUIET WEDDING

Miss Florence Louise White, daughter of Mrs. Edna White, of Castletown, became the bride of Lloyd W. Miesel, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Miesel, of Ellwood City, at a quiet ceremony performed by Rev. L. R. Van Horn, in the parsonage of the Christian Missionary church, East McKeesport, Pa., Friday evening, February 4, at 8:15 p. m.

The bride was attired in an aqua silk crepe street length dress, with black accessories. She wore a white orchid corsage.

The couple was unattended. Following a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, the couple will reside in Ellwood City.

Mrs. Miesel is a graduate of Shenango high school and is employed in the office of the National Plumbing and Fixture Corp. of Ellwood City.

Mr. Miesel, a graduate of Lincoln high school, Ellwood City, is a veteran of World War II, and is also employed at the National Plumbing and Fixture Corp. of Ellwood City.

COUNTRY CLUB PLANS VALENTINE DANCE

The annual Valentine dance will be held at the New Castle Country club, Saturday evening, February 12. This is usually a well attended affair.

Dancing will be from 9 to 1 a. m., to music furnished by an out of town orchestra, recommended by several of the members, which is guaranteed to provide enjoyable music for all.

Senator S. G. Neff Proposes Subsidy Fund For Housing

HARRISBURG, Feb. 9.—(INS)—A $10,000,000 private housing subsidy fund was proposed in the senate today to underwrite down payments on single unit dwellings and land not costing more than $10,000.

The bill, co-sponsored by Democratic Senators Samuel G. Neff, of Lawrence, and Elmer J. Holland, of Allegheny, was sent to the state government committee.

The Neff-Holland bill would make the money available to private home builders for down payments through the state commerce department. The debt would be repaid to the state over 20 years at two per cent interest.

Each plot of ground would be limited to 50 by 100 feet.

Earned Income Forms Sent To Employers

Tax Receiver Lewis McClung reported today that approximately 2,100 earned income tax forms have been mailed to industries and other employment places and the first quarter returns must be in before, or on May 1. Forms for individuals are available at the tax office, City Building annex, East street. They are returnable for the first quarter, on or before June 15, Mr. McClung stated.

to enforce the Hungarian peace treaty which requires that country to extend full freedom of speech and religion.

"Conscienceless Attack"
Acheson said that the "conscienceless attack" on religious freedom including the "persecution" of the Lutheran Bishop Lajos Orsdass and other church leaders is due to the effort of the Soviet-controlled Hungarian government to "discredit and coerce religious leadership in Hungary in order to remove this source of moral resistance to Communism."

He continued:
"The people of the United States, without question, peoples of other freedom-loving nations, are sickened and horrified by these developments and fully comprehend the threat they constitute to free institutions everywhere."

The secretary said that Hungary's attacks on church leaders are not isolated developments. He asserted that during the two years in which the minority Communist party has been in control the people of Hungary have been increasingly denied "the exercise of fundamental human rights and freedoms."

Acheson declared:

Reads Statement
"Parliamentary opposition, an element indispensable to the democratic process, has been ruthlessly eliminated, the totalitarian controls of state and party have been laid like a deadening hand upon every phase of daily personal existence, and the Hungarian people have been divested of any real independence."

Acheson read his statement in a solemn manner at his weekly news conference. He made it clear that some form of action against Hungary would be taken.

However, when asked what process could be taken to enforce the treaty signed by the former enemy nation the secretary replied that he could not answer that question.

Asked whether there was a possibility of severing diplomatic relations with Hungary he replied that he would rather not answer that question.

Reminded by reporters that Selden Chapin, minister to Budapest, has been charged with cooperating in Cardinal Mindszenty's activities and conducting espionage, Acheson declared these charges were "totally false, baseless and outrageous statements."

Senate GOP leader Wherry, Neb., declared that "there is a lot of meat to what Dewey says."

Wherry added:
"It is only too bad that we didn't have speeches like that before Nov. 2."

"If we had, we would have won more states."

House GOP leader Martin, Mass., who shared the spotlight with Dewey at the dinner, said:
"It was a courageous and virile speech."

Sen. Brewster (R) Maine, said it was a "vote-getting speech, a good one. Dewey is himself again."

Sen. Ives (R) N. Y., one of Dewey's closest associates on Capitol Hill, said that "it was a great address."

Sen. Cain (R) Wash., called the address "an excellent one on which to rebuild the party." Cain declared:

"It is a little sad to reflect that one wishes that the governor had given more such speeches during the campaign."

Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., the GOP foreign policy spokesman in the Senate, declined to comment. The Michigan speaker will make a Lincoln Day address of his own in Detroit tomorrow.

Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, who is regarded as the leader of the Republican faction which has sought to wrest GOP control from Dewey since the election, appeared at the dinner to pay his respects to the governor.

He did not stay to hear the speech, however, because he had to attend a hearing of the Senate Labor Committee at the Capitol.

Community Day Program Given

Plaingrove Township Residents Hear Vital Farm Topics Discussed

LOCAL FARMERS GIVE EXPERIENCES

Around 75 men and women of the Plaingrove district gathered in the Plaingrove Grange Hall, Tuesday, for a Community Day program, when topics of vital interest to them were discussed.

The program began in the morning with a showing of movies on grassland farming, after which Elmer Pifer, of Penn State College, extension agronomist, discussed soil testing to determine the kind and amount of fertilizer needed to produce the best results.

Afterwards, Miss Patricia Kelley, Home Economics Extension Worker, and John H. Holbert, assistant county agent, spoke on Four-H Club work and its importance to the farm youth.

Tuesday Dinner
At noon, a delicious thirteen dinner was served, and afterwards the men and women separated into groups, the women hearing Miss Kelley discuss "Color in the Home," with illustrations accompanying the talk.

At the meeting of the men's group, Lester Offutt, of the Plaingrove community told of his experiences in tile drainage, while John Hove spoke on his experience with winter barley. Mr. Pifer followed with a talk on pasture improvement, and its importance to increased milk supply and meat production.

Before adjourning, the groups re-assembled, when County Agent L. C. Dayton discussed the topic, "Are we getting the best out of rural life." Slides were used showing local scenes to illustrate the talk.

Secretary Of Agriculture To Issue Statement

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan agreed to appear before the senate agriculture committee at 2 p. m., EST, today to issue a statement on the commodity market price drop.

The committee voted unanimously to summon Brannan before the group for a statement which senators said they hoped would "halt this pell-mell rush to market."

The action was taken on a motion by Sen. Thye (R) Minn. Sen. Gillette (D) Iowa, seconded the motion but said that he was not optimistic that such a statement "would bolster the spirit of the American farmer."

They replied:
"If there is a forthright statement that we are not in a tailspin, it would help keep cattle in the feed lots instead of sending them pell-mell to market."

Twenty-Seven Or Twenty-Eight Persons Aboard Missing Scandinavian Airliner

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Reports reaching Copenhagen today said that the wreckage of a Scandinavian airliner missing with 27 to 28 aboard has been sighted off the Swedish coast.

The wreckage was said to have been seen near an oil patch sighted earlier by a Danish naval vessel.

The missing plane was last heard circling the fogbound Copenhagen airport last night.

The plane, a twin-engined Viking was en route from Madrid to Copenhagen with 23 passengers, all Spaniards, and a Danish crew of four or five.

When last reported the plane asked the Kastup airport for instructions for an instrument landing.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

Josef Cardinal Mindszenty has been sentenced to life imprisonment by a Budapest court. And this tragic event has given the world another example of poor Soviet timing in contrast with the days when the Communists had a great knack for capitalizing on events at the most propitious moment.

For the Cardinal's sentence coincided with a Soviet diplomatic offensive on a grand scale against Scandinavia. The result may be a smashing defeat for Russian aspirations in northern Europe.

Reduce Red Prestige
Certainly the events in Budapest have reduced Communist prestige throughout the world to perhaps the lowest ebb it ever has known.

Led by the Vatican and Cardinal Spellman, religious leaders and laymen throughout the world are up in arms over the travesty of justice that has occurred in the Hungarian capital and a militant upsurge against atheist communism is inevitable.

In the past, the Soviet chieftains in the Kremlin have chosen to low any little or nothing when excesses condemned by the world have occurred in any of the satellite countries.

Now, however, Moscow has selected this particular time to bring pressure to bear on Norway, and perhaps Sweden and Denmark also, to turn away from the western democracies and seek instead some place of illusory security in the orbit of the Soviet Union.

Astonishing Event
The choice of this particular time for the Kremlin to throw its diplomatic weight around in the international arena is astonishing on a number of scores.

The press and radio of Norway and the other Scandinavian countries are completely free and uncontrolled. This means that there is no need for any disposition to accept the Mindszenty trial at its face value.

On the contrary the Scandinavian press, in all probabilities, has given wide prominent to the protests of the Vatican and of high churchmen such as Cardinal Spellman. And in its columns there probably are reflected the world-wide suspicion that the prisoner was drugged and tortured and certainly threatened.

Another factor of importance is that the Scandinavian people are deeply religious, given to quiet, conservative lives, and are staunch champions of individual liberty.

Repressive Methods
The repressive methods of communism are completely alien to their traditions and beliefs. Yet the Russians chose this moment to invite the Norwegians to sacrifice their liberty of action for the dubious boon of a military agreement with the Soviet Union which at best would be a heavily one-sided deal.

The presence of Norwegian Foreign Minister Dr. Halvard Lange in Washington on an intended visit is regarded as complete proof that Norway has decided to follow his personal recommendation and throw in its lot with the west.

There is no question that this will strengthen the North Atlantic defense pact to a tremendous degree, and as time goes on, it may well influence Sweden as well to do the same.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

READING TROUBLE IN THE TEENS

There's many a boy and girl in the junior or senior high school, even some in college, who can barely read well from a third or fourth grade reader. No wonder so many of these poor readers fail in their school subjects or have so hard time getting by. Even in arithmetic, algebra or geometry the student must read pretty well in order to succeed. Solution of a verbal problem, indeed, is barely possible if it can't be read well for meaning.

It would be enlightening to the average teacher of youths in their teens to have them read individually aloud to her from one of their text books. If this teacher were to do so she would decide to organize a section in every one of her classes, composed of the poorest readers and would give them a brief daily period at helping them learn to read better. In the meanwhile the good readers could profitably take care of themselves. She would provide these poor readers with a wide variety of interesting materials well illustrated, some of them with a vocabulary no less than that of a third-grade level. Most of all, this teacher should be sure not to make these youths feel ashamed of their poor reading skills. Rather she should help them escape humiliation they already have over the matter.

Read Aloud
Any parent whose child lags in the upper grades or high school should ask the child, sympathetically when alone with him, to read aloud from one of his text books. No doubt the parent would be appalled at the way this child halts and stumbles over every other word or so. Just as the mother who wrote:

"I would like your help for my daughter fourteen years old. She is a very poor reader. When reading aloud she pauses every few words and then mispronounces the word. I have heard her stop at 'held' (which she finally pronounced 'healed') and at other words." (Continued on Page Eight)

BIBLE THOUGHT

When men are cast down, then thou shalt say, There is lifting up: and He shall save the humble person.—Job 22:29.

Psychological Factors

Thus the psychological factors involved in connection with the Mindszenty case are enormous.

It may be anticipated that the Vatican, through the newspaper L'Osservatore Romano, through declarations from Pope Pius and other high officials, and through simple sermons preached by priests on Sunday all over the world, will continue its expose of the cardinal's "railroadings" until there is no further room for doubt in the mind of anyone.

Each new "convert" to the conviction that Mindszenty was persecuted will be another stone in the rapidly rising wall of world opinion against communism.

And that means a constant strengthening of western democracy in defense of itself. Russia eventually may find the trial of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty a boomerang of alarming proportions.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

As you know, thousands of poems and songs have been written about Love.

Scores of definitions have been given for it, each different from the other, depending on whether the definer was a biologist, chemist, physicist, psychiatrist or lover.

But now comes Mr. J. C. Puett of Temple, Texas, with an illustration of love, the like of which I have never heard.

He wrote it in 1936, he says, and it, according to him "what makes the world go round—Love."

I shall quote him, but I shall let you draw your own conclusions whether these words are your idea of love.

Here goes:

"Let me relate of a bullfight great That once I saw in sunny Spain, The fight was fast and to the last I thought the torador would be slain.

The torador stood in a frightened mood,

His every nerve was tense and alert;

The big mad bull was rushing on full

To crush him quickly to the dirt.

The bull once more with bellows

And roar, Rushed and scarcely have missed him:

What did the torador do? He quickly said 'Moo'

And the bull came right up and kissed him."

That, ladies and gentlemen, is Mr. Puett's of Temple, definition of love.

And, when you come to think of it, it is about as good a one as most of the others I have seen.

By the way, my Temple friend has just celebrated his seventy-fourth birthday and apparently is still going strong.

Speaking of—Mr. Puett should pardon the expression—elderly people. I had a very interesting letter from the lady in Nicktown, Pa., who had asked me not to print her name.

She now gives me permission to give her full name, and she tells me that the whole town knew it anyway.

But not only that. I had a letter from Mrs. Irene Abbott of Pittsburgh, Pa., who writes:

"You seem to have a guessing contest on! At once I seemed to recognize this lady you speak of. In my opinion her name is Mrs. Amelia Kirsch. Right?" (Right, E. B.)

Then Mrs. Abbott challenges Mrs. Kirsch to a duel.

I said in my column that, in spite of her advanced years, Mrs. Kirsch loves to laugh.

Mrs. Abbott says her own mother, who is 73 and still lives in Nicktown, likes a good laugh every bit as much as Mrs. Kirsch, or even more so.

"Put these two ladies together," she writes, "and tell a good story, and see which one can laugh the loudest and longest."

As soon as the weather gets better and I clean up that story of a little, I shall go to Nicktown and tell it to Mrs. Kirsch and Mrs. Abbott's mother.

From Me To You

By MESECALL

It's an endless chain of events . . . for example . . . if an industry that employs ten thousand men is started in a new and salubrious location, the city that is quickly established will soon contain a population much larger than ten thousand . . . Many workers will of course bring families with them . . . this will at least double the population at the start.

News will get around of the springing up of a city . . . and tradesmen and service workers will move in . . . there will be need for construction and communication specialists, teachers, doctors, typists and beauty shops . . . almost over night new stores, laundries and restaurants will open . . . These will serve not only the original industry's workers but also the people who came to serve them . . . In other words, service breeds service.

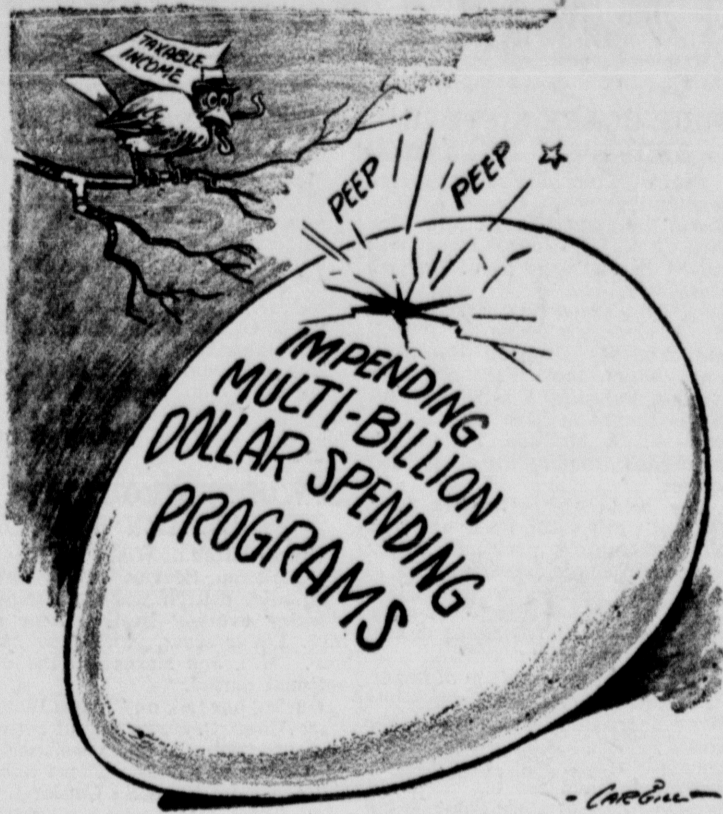

It's an endless chain, because new business attracts other businesses, and a growing city becomes a magnet for opportunities and unexpected markets.

In addition to the service people who come to serve the original industry workers there will be numerous parasites and chiselers joining the bandwagon . . . soon there will be sixty or seventy thousand population where originally employment began for ten thousand . . . There will be needs for Red Feather Agencies . . . Tax Laws . . . politics will be a ready form of employment.

All this could happen here in the United States . . . for that is the way the people of the United States think . . . It's a healthy way of thinking and acting. Everyone has the right to move about, work where he wishes, spend his earnings as he wishes . . . He can say what he wishes whenever he wishes and then go home and sleep it off.

All of this because a new industry started . . . If we kill industry or the right for anyone to start an industry . . . are we killing ourselves? Almost without exception . . . every industry started by a young man with an idea.

The Egg And You

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Another Soviet Link Severed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Almost without notice from the press one of the last links between the Soviet Union and the west was severed long ago. On the day that the British Trades Union Congress, the CIO and the Dutch unions pulled out of the World Federation of Trade Unions, an era came to an end.

Documents that have just reached here show that the step was inevitable. Russia was determined to use the WFTU as an instrument for thwarting the reconstruction of Europe and attacking the Marshall plan.

From the beginning James B. Carey, for the CIO, and the British TUC delegates had taken the stand that the Marshall plan was in line with the declared policy of the World Federation to support the reconstruction of war-devastated countries. But time after time, in spite of their repeated protests, they had seen the WFTU used to propagandize against "monopoly capitalism" and the Marshall plan.

Delegations Withdraw
Therefore, at the recent Paris meeting, the British, the American and the Dutch delegations withdrew. In a stirring speech Carey denounced the Russians for perverting what had been intended to be a world organization of labor unions into a device to further Soviet aims.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan
(By International News Service)

GOP Chairman Hugh Scott has a book coming out called "How To Go Into Politics" . . . takes a candidate right up to the White House door and leaves him outside.

But the book was drafted at a time when Rep. Scott had reason to believe it would be a success story.

Booksellers are kindly requested not to list it under "humor" . . . There are some things that are not funny to a Republican national chairman.

The hottest seller in the winter book line proba" will be the bound copies of Mr. Truman's campaign speeches . . . Even those who heard them still don't believe the result.

Both books are available in April and should be purchased as a set . . . "How To Do It" and "How I Did It."

But anyone who depends on a book to win friends and influence people must have noticed that Dale Carnegie never ran for president.

The reply came from V. V. Kuznetsov, president of the All-Union Central Council of Trade Unions in Moscow. The shrill indignation directed at Carey and the British delegates, Arthur Deakin and Vincent Tewson, showed plainly that Kuznetsov was on the defensive.

"Carey says that the Soviet trade unions are subordinated to the Soviet state and the cominform," Kuznetsov shouted. "That is a sheer lie."

"The Soviet trade unions are an important and influential organization in Soviet society, but the government has never been in command of the trade unions. In our country government authority belongs to the working people. The Soviet government is glad to help the trade unions and duly considers their opinions."

"Carey does not like it because there are no strikes in the USSR. Yes, there are no strikes in the USSR and not because they are prohibited by law, for on 126 occasions the country has been struck by our law permits strikes. But there are no strikes. Why? Because we have no exploitation—Carey should finally understand this."

Completely Subordinate
The trade unions in Russia are, of course, completely subordinate to the all-dominant state. This has been obvious for a long time to all but the blindest fellow travelers.

The CIO has been criticized for staying in the WFTU when it became apparent that communists dominated its operation. But Carey, long a foe of communist aggression and communist tactics at home and abroad, went ahead with the backing of CIO President Philip Murray in the hope that through a world labor organization a common meeting ground with the Russians could be found.

Last March Carey flew to Moscow to make a direct appeal to Kuznetsov to end communist sniping in the WFTU. In a dramatic meeting Carey warned that if the WFTU failed and the Soviet unions and the CIO could not get along together, then it would be generally (Continued on Page Eight)

They Say
NEW YORK — Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews . . . "The case of Cardinal Mindszenty is fundamentally an attack upon the right of religious leaders to apply the moral law to acts of government—at attack, therefore, upon moral law, which is the root of all our liberties."

WASHINGTON — Rep. Somers (D-N.Y.) . . . "I warn you (the Hungarian government) that if you murder Cardinal Mindszenty you will gain the enmity of the entire Catholic world and I shall take it upon myself to crystallize that enmity."

NEW YORK — Zoltan Pfeiffer, former Hungarian secretary of justice . . . "I saw with my own eyes the horrifying effects of the treatment of prisoners (by the chief of Hungary's secret police). In the course of a few days they were changed from courageous fighters for their beliefs into cringing stooges for their jailers."

BUDAPEST—Selden Chapin, U. S. minister to Hungary . . . "I know of no one speaking Hungarian present at the trial of Cardinal Mindszenty in whose testimony I would have complete confidence."

JOBS UPON A TIME

AT 22 GENE WILLIAMS is one of the youngest band leaders in the United States. His fans call him Mr. America. Gene began his career as an orchestra vocalist when he was 16. With this orchestra he went to California, appeared in a picture with Abbott and Costello, Hit the Ice, made recordings, and returned to New York. Came World War II and Gene answered Uncle Sam's call and did his singing in the army until 1946, when he was discharged, and joined a musical aggregation to sing in a New York restaurant. Gene sang with a number of orchestras after that, but when one of them disbanded he raised enough money to form his own orchestra.

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 9.—While labor-management strife rages on Capitol Hill over the proposed Labor Bill, there has appeared this week a pamphlet entitled "Causes of Industrial Peace—Case Study Number 4."

We Americans are so inured to circumstantial irony—the fact of strife existing side by side with the talk of peace—that this particular example might pass without notice. But the example is worthy of notice for reasons which will take a little explaining.

First, let us note that "Causes of Industrial Peace" is a series of 15 case histories—eleven still to be published—which relate how specific companies and unions have learned to get along together.

Work of National

The series is the work of the National Planning Association. This 15-year-old, non-profit, non-political group is composed of leaders from labor, industry, business and the universities. The NPA's basic charter is called "A Declaration of Interdependence" which affirms the principle that America is, economically as well as politically, a trine nation. Our government has the executive, legislative and judicial branches. Our economy has the working, managing and farming branches. The Industrial Peace series is only one of 136 studies which NPA has published since 1934. But it is possibly the best of the lot and almost certainly it is the most timely.

More Than Legislative Skirmish

Second, let us observe that the battle over the Labor Bill is more than a legislative skirmish. It is developing into a new phase of the class-against-mass struggle. I am convinced that the American people would, if they could, witness and understand what is developing in these hearings, lift their voices in consternation and disapproval. The following, to my observation, is what is going on:

1. Opponents of the proposed bill are saying that Labor can't be trusted, that its leaders need to be hemmed about with no-Communist oaths and with restrictions which rely on quick appeal to the Federal courts.

2. Proponents of the bill are saying that labor leaders, as a group, are loyal Americans to whom such oaths and restrictions are insulting.

3. The opponents are being egged on by certain interests which thrive on the money paid out to ghost writers, publicists, etc.

4. The proponents are being egged on by the apostles of violence whom we have always with us. Some are union leaders who can't forget the bygone days when it took real daring to lead a labor movement. Other apostles of violence are undercover trouble-makers, possibly Communies, who revel in setting class-against-mass in this one free major country left on earth.

Can Bring Lasting Good

Here, then, is a situation which can bring no lasting good to either side of the dispute. What's needed is to find a Labor Law which can operate with a decent degree of accord and teamwork. Anyone who has watched the present strife on Capitol Hill will doubt that such a law can evolve. Senator Taft on one side and Secretary Tobin on the other are not the men to reach a compromise. The Senator is justifiably aroused in defense on the Taft-Hartley Act, his namesake and legislative offspring. The Secretary is understandably grasping for all the power and prestige within reach. Even if both men were altogether right, which is humanly impossible, they could not give the country the law that the country needs. Both should step aside.

They should step aside, I believe, and call upon the National Planning Association to propose a Labor Bill, one which has the personality and the partisan wrinkles ironed out flat.

NPA Wholly Impartial

The NPA is wholly impartial. Its present chairman is an industrialist, H. Christian Sonne, president of Amsinck, Sonne and Co. Its five vice-chairmen are Clinton Golden and Marion Hedges, labor advisors to the Economic Cooperation Administration, Frank Altschul and Beardsley Ruml, business executives, and Donald Murphy, a farm journal editor.

The NPA is wholly fitted to do the job. It has a sizable, competent staff already deep in the research work of "Causes of Industrial Peace."

The NPA is willing to do the job. This I know from personal interviews with its spokesmen.

But there is one hitch. The Bureau of Internal Revenue does not permit a non-profit, non-political group to "offer" its services to Congress. But such a group may make its services "available" if so requested by congressmen.

All we need now is for some far-sighted representative or some statesman-like senator to make this request.

The line forms on the right.

State Police Say:

Safe driving speed is not always the same as the legal speed limit. "Three out of every ten motorists involved in fatal accidents drive to their rendezvous with death in a hurry. Some of them are actually exceeding posted speed limits; but many more of them are driving too fast for existing conditions."

REQUEST

Never mind piling up stone on stone
Over me when my soul has flown;
If there be one who'd remembrance show,
Let the thought to the living go.

When in the ground the flesh is laid,
Mortals have passed beyond friend-ship's aid,
But the living who stay after I must go,
Will need the friends that I needed so.

Smooth the path for the living, No
Will happier be for the deeds you do,
And brighten their days with some gift, which I
Had failed to make ere I said goodbye.

Hints On Etiquette

It is not necessary for a business executive to rise every time a girl in his office enters his private office, but he should rise when a visitor enters, be it a man or woman, and ask them to be seated before he reseats himself.

Execution of the verdict of the majority should be as prompt as physically possible.

Sodality Plans
Valentine Party

In the auditorium of St. Lucy's church, the Immaculate Conception sodality gathered for their regular meeting on February 6 at 2 o'clock.

Prefect Catherine Desimone presided, and Rev. Fr. Sebastian Ippolito gave the opening prayer. The hymn "Mother Beloved" was sung.

Following the roll call, minutes were read by Alba Lombardi, and approved. Treasurer Margaret Martino gave her report. Prayers were read from the sodality office book. The sodalists were asked to choose an hour each day of 20, 21 and 22nd for adoration of the Blessed Sacrament, for 40 hours devotion. Eucharistic, Frances Lombardo, spoke on temptation; apostolic, Lucille Ramerano, spoke about Our Lady's purification; Our Lady, Flossie Masone, read an article about Our Lady of Lourdes, also a letter from Mother Rose, former mother superior at St. Lucy's convent, now stationed in Africa. Catholic truth, Clara Desimone, read an article about February being Catholic press month; publicity, Rita Felice, spoke about the martyrs of February, and Joan of Arc. Social life, Rose Vitale, announced a valentine party would be held in the church auditorium Sunday, February 13.

Fr. Ippolito talked on 40-hour devotion. Frances Lombardo motioned to adjourn. Clara Desimone seconded. Alba Lombardo gave the closing prayer, and hymn "For Christ the King" was sung.

Next meeting, March 6.

Methodist Women
Meet Tuesday Night

At Mahoning Methodist church the Women's Society of Christian Service had their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening in the church parlors. Mrs. Harry Freeman conducted the devotional exercises.

Mrs. Milton Butts was leader of the evening program and gave an interesting talk on "Paradise Of the Pacific—Hawaii". Mrs. Q. E. Davy gave a review on the Spiritual Life book.

The business session was in charge of Mrs. J. M. Conn. It was announced that the Lenten offering would be taken up at the next meeting.

Mrs. Clare Gorley, Mrs. Ray Horsman, Mrs. Clark Godwin and Mrs. Fred Gibson, the hostesses, served a delicious lunch.

Next meeting is scheduled in the church Tuesday evening, March 8.

Major Highway Projects Will Have To Be Shelved Unless State Gets Revenue

HARRISBURG, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Gov. James H. Duff said today that major highway projects throughout the state will have to be shelved unless the Highways department receives $80,000,000 in new revenues for the 1949-51 biennium.

The governor said he would "insist" on a one-cent gasoline tax increase in addition to a state authority to provide the funds.

His statement, made at a news conference this morning, followed by less than 24 hours the introduction of an administration bill proposing a one-cent hike in the existing four-cent a gallon tax on gasoline.

Duff has said he would be agreeable to the one-cent hike if a highway authority would be established to provide $40,000,000 during the next biennium.

"If we get $80,000,000 less than what the Highway department needs we will get $80,000,000 less in needed projects," he emphasized.

Motorists Must Pay
"If motorists don't pay for them we are not going to get them."
"We can't pull them out of the air."

Duff indicated that the Schuylkill express highway in the Philadelphia area, the Penn-Lincoln parkway in the Pittsburgh area, and a bridge program in the Harrisburg area would be threatened if new funds are not provided.

Duff said the contention by certain oil companies that the state will receive $82,000,000 in federal aid during the next two years is "entirely fallacious."

"Last year, by actual experience, federal subsidies amounted to 19.4 per cent of the total spent in Pennsylvania for highway construction," he said.

"We expect to spend $200,000,000 during the next two years and at 20 per cent, federal subsidies would not be in excess of $40,000,000."

The governor pointed out that Pennsylvania could get the $82,000,000 federal subsidy in the next two years only if it had a $409,000,000 highway development program. Since the commonwealth's program will amount to $200,000,000 the state can get only half of the available federal aid, he said.

Meanwhile the administration's tax program for the next two years began its trip through the General Assembly, with Duff's gasoline tax proposal already compromised.

State Police Are Now Bearing Down In Driver Tests

State police, attached to the examination of prospective operators squad, are "bearing down" on candidates because of highway accidents, applicants having been failed Tuesday, when a Butler detail conducted an examination here.

The candidates are required to read a chart for visibility, and also to ascertain if they are color blind. In regard to this latter phase, very few in the number examined, are affected by color blindness.

Following this test, the officer examines the car for illumination, or defects, and then comes the driving test.

The learner drives from the Armory, south on Huron Avenue, to Arlington Avenue, thence east on East Washington street, south on Vogan street to the Armory.

The candidate is next examined as to his knowledge of the state motor code, and if he passes, he is granted the right to drive unaccompanied, and if unsuccessful, is required to take a test and pass, before he may drive legally.

More than 50 cities in the United States are now carrying on anti-noise campaigns.

Fire power of the cruiser's nine eight-inch guns is estimated to be four times greater than that of previous eight-inchers. (International)

Cardinal Spellman Calls For Protest

U.S. Called On To Protest Imprisonment Of Cardinal Mindszenty By Hungary

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Francis Cardinal Spellman charged today that the life sentence imposed on Cardinal Mindszenty "is but prolonged murder" and a trick by Hungary's communist government designed to quiet the world storm of protest.

The archbishop of New York said that Cardinal Mindszenty was spared immediate death on the gallows only to "soothe back into quietude those peoples who stormed heaven with their prayers and free governments with their protests."

Cardinal Spellman told Americans, however, that if they do not see behind the Budapest government's aim, "we shall still be the tools and the fools for which the communists take us."

Rather than "an extension of life," Cardinal Spellman said, the life term given Cardinal Mindszenty "means merely an extension of living death—misery, anguish, pain, terror and torture."

He said America must not rest until the Hungarian prime minister again can walk "the streets of Budapest a free, unfettered man—symbol of all free God-loving men."

The New York cardinal called on the U. S. to protest the imprisonment of Cardinal Mindszenty by a "crusade to save civilization from crucifixion."

BOY SCOUTS

Walmo Cub Dinner

Walmo Cub Pack 6 held their annual tureen dinner at the Neshannock township fire house, Tuesday evening.

The event marked the anniversary of the Boy Scout movement. Five dens participated, with a total of 110 persons present.

The committee in charge consisted of den mothers Mrs. Lewis Dayton, Mrs. James Beam, Mrs. James Messner, Mrs. Robert Kyle, Mrs. Claude Wagner, and Mrs. James Massie.

A short meeting followed the dinner. Cubmaster Howard Foster then introduced the members of the pack committee; William Murphy, chairman; Robert Kyle, treasurer and institutional representative; Dan Racioppo, activities, and Tom Sinathers, publicity.

Parents presented Bobcat pins to the following boys: James Glenn, Gordon Thorpe, Ralph Beam and Robert Cox. David Dayton silver arrow on Wolf pin. David Conery received two year service pin.

Graduation ceremonies were conducted by Scoutmaster Nelson McCluskey who welcomed Kenneth Wayne, David Glenn, Frank Hutchinson, and Billy Murphy into Troop 43 upon their successful completion of the cub program.

Big Difference In January Weather Is Shown Over 1948

Temperatures Were 16 Degrees Higher Than In January Of Last Year

Weather conditions during January of this year showed a wide variance from those experienced in January of 1948, the statistics compiled by Baxter F. Johnson, U. S. Weather Observer here reveal.

Whereas the temperature during January of 1949 were 7.6 degrees above the normal, in 1948, they were 8.5 degrees below normal, when there were 11 days with a minimum temperature of zero or below. This year, there were none. There was almost an inch and a half more precipitation this January, compared to January in 1948, but far less snow.

The mean maximum temperature was 44 degrees, the mean minimum 27.6 degrees, and the mean or average for the month was 35.8 degrees. In 1948, the average was 19.7 degrees. The highest temperature recorded this year in January was 62 degrees, while the lowest was two above zero. In January of 1948, the highest was only 49 degrees, while the lowest was 16 below zero.

Total precipitation was 4.21 inches, an excess of 1.01 inches over the normal. In January, 1948, the precipitation was 1.4 inches below normal. There was 3.9 inches of snow in January this year, against 7.6 inches in January 1948, most of which remained on the ground throughout the month. The greatest in any 24-hour period this year was .60 inches on January 5th, and the greatest snowfall was three inches on January 31.

Days with .01 inches or more of precipitation were 16, with eight days on which there was 25 inches or more. Days clear were seven, partly cloudy, nine; and cloudy, 15.

'Axis Sally' Trial Halted Temporarily When She Collapses

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(INS)—The "Axis Sally" treason trial was dramatically halted Tuesday when the accused woman, Mildred E. Gillars, collapsed during the noon recess.

Federal Judge Edward M. Curran ordered a recess until Wednesday. He informed the jury that the court nurse "has reported that the defendant has become ill and cannot continue the case this afternoon."

Miss Gillars, who is charged with betrayal of her country through wartime "Axis Sally" propaganda broadcasts for the Nazi radio, was taken to the District of Columbia jail infirmary.

All-Woman Grand Jury Indicts Youth

Seymour Levin, 17, Is Indicted On Murder Charge In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9.—(INS)—An all-woman grand jury on Tuesday indicted Seymour Levin, 17, son of a wealthy Wynnefield merchant, for murder and manslaughter in the brutal slaying of 12-year-old Ellis Simons.

The first all-female jury in Philadelphia's history returned indictments of murder, voluntary and involuntary manslaughter after hearing eight witnesses.

Quarter Sessions Judge Edwin O. Lewis presided as the panel returned its judgement shortly after being sworn in Tuesday afternoon.

A commonwealth spokesman said efforts would be made to arraign the slightly built, bespectacled youth Friday morning.

Levin was charged with stabbing young Simons to death on the evening of last January 8 in the fashionable Levin home. He was said to have met Simons for the first time earlier that day.

Body Was Found
Ellis' slashed and rope-trussed body was found in the rear of a garage in the backyard of the Wynnefield residence. Police said bloodstains led through the yard into the Levin house.

The Levin boy, who has been examined by three noted psychiatrists, maintained that he met Simons on Wynnefield street and invited him home to look at his chemistry set.

The youthful defendant said that while upstairs in the house Ellis made a disparaging remark about the chemical set. Then, Levin insisted, everything "went black."

Detectives declared, however, that Levin met Simons at a central-city theater and rode "him on a trolley" to Wynnefield. They said they found no trace of a chemical set.

Levin's father conducts a prosperous drygoods store in Toms River, N. J. The Levin family moved out of the Wynnefield home shortly after discovery of the murder.

Alleged Black Market Operators Given Sentences

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Herbert C. Boyer, former Tamaqua, Pa., bakery salesman, was sentenced Tuesday to a year in prison and fined $500 as an alleged black market "king-pin" of OPA days.

Six "customers" pleaded guilty with Boyer to charges of participating in the sale of more than 100,000 pounds of rationed sugar on bogus stamps.

Fines were imposed upon the six by Federal Judge Guy K. Bard as follows:

Claude I. Zimmerman, owner of Zimmerman Bros. Wholesale Grocery Co., Lansford, $1,600.

Gus Woods, Tamaqua confectioner and restaurant operator, $500.

Jacob A. Robb, Tamaqua grocer, $200; George Capos, Tamaqua restaurant owner, $200; Ross Rolles, manager of a Harrisburg confectionery company, $100, and Thomas Santakos, Pottsville lunch room operator, $50.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Leon H. Fox described Boyer as a "big operator" and said he had been apprehended only two months ago in Newark, N. J., after "disappearing" during the probe by OPA agents.

Scouts To Launch Two Year Crusade

Fortieth Anniversary Program Starts Saturday
With Nationwide
Broadcast

Boy Scouts of America complete a week-long celebration of their thirty-ninth anniversary Saturday. Simultaneously the national scouting movement will launch a two-year crusade known as "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty" to be held in conjunction with the big fortieth anniversary celebration scheduled for next year. The purpose of the crusade is to give every boy the opportunity to do things which build strong character and good citizenship thus bringing the scout movement as a nationwide program to its very peak of preparedness for usefulness to the nation.

Meet at Armory

The Lawrence County Council of Boy Scouts of America will participate in the Fortieth Anniversary Crusade by giving in assemblies throughout the county on Thursday afternoon, February 12, at 1:45 o'clock. The New Castle district will assemble in the New Castle Armory; Connoquenessing district will meet in the Municipal building in Ellwood City, and the Mahoning-Beaver district will assemble in the Bessemer high school. The cub scouts, boy scouts and senior scouts of each district, along with their unit leaders, assistants, den mothers and unit committeemen, will assemble in their respective places to listen to a national broadcast originating from the Statue of Liberty in New York City.

Presentation of boy scout week ribbons to the units in the council will also take place on Saturday afternoon. A court of honor and an explanation of "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty" to the scouts and scouters of the council is also on the program. Each scout will receive a "crusade" pin.

Two Year Program

The goal of "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty" is to ambitiously reach in a single year. Effort will be devoted to its accomplishment immediately and steadily throughout 1949 and 1950. Attention will be focused on three basic targets: leadership, program and membership.

These are not new goals. They have always been the targets at which the movement has aimed. It will be the purpose of this anniversary crusade to define clearly these three goals, to initiate local and national activities which will dramatize them and to provide recognition for those who hit the targets.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Taking It Easy After the Baby Is Born.

There's been a lot of loose talk about how much more capable primitive mothers were than are the mothers of today. Supposedly, they gave birth to a baby, rested an hour or so and got up and went about their work. Undoubtedly, this was sometimes true. On the other hand, a lot more mothers died in childbirth when we weren't so careful about seeing that they had plenty of care at and after the birth of a child.

Whatever the situation may have been in the early days, today it seems pretty clear that the wise thing is to see to it that new mothers don't have to lead too strenuous a life during the weeks after a baby has come. Of course, this way may be easier said than done in many situations.

Wherever possible, a household assistant—whether she be a hired girl, a mother of husband or wife, or a friend—should carry the burden of heavier household work. If this isn't possible, the laundry should be sent out for several weeks and arrangements made for simple meals that don't take too much work. It will save a great deal in the long run to take these precautions and to give the new mother a chance to get back on her feet.

FINS AND LEGS

Scientists tell us that there were fins on the earth before there were legs.

Fish and birds and animals have found it necessary or desirable to travel around a little. So they developed fins and wings and legs.

The flesh of these birds and animals and fish is valuable for nourishment.

We need considerable protein in our diet. Meat provides it in abundance.

Protein is used principally for building material. Children need lots of protein for their rapidly growing bodies.

Adults need protein for replacement of worn out parts. There are other important uses for protein, too. Old people need protein in their food to help keep them in good health.

Mom tries to provide food which supplies all of the different things needed for good health. Sometimes the little old pocketbook has it's troubles too.

B'nai B'rith Sabbath Friday

In observance of national Brotherhood month in February, the B'nai B'rith local organization will sponsor a B'nai B'rith Sabbath on Friday evening in the Tifereth Israel synagogue.

Rabbi Jules Lipschutz will conduct the service and preach a special sermon for the occasion.

Rev. Thomas Jones, president of the local chapter of Brotherhood, will be the guest speaker.

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARKEL

BE GENEROUS WITH PRAISE

"What do you consider the greatest asset for making and keeping friends—for becoming generally popular and well liked?"

Answer: Physical attractiveness, a good disposition and charm are of inestimable value in making friends. So are the ability to carry on an interesting conversation, dance well, play bridge and have at least a small knowledge of the numerous other social pastimes.

To deviate to the liability side of the social ledger, here is one of the greatest marks against most of us. Our reticence about the good qualities of others. Have you ever noticed how infrequently you hear one woman praise another, either behind her back or in her presence?

Since we all like to hear nice things about ourselves, we naturally like people who say them to us. I am not referring to gushers or those who strike to make an impression, but rather to those who give credit where credit is due.

If you think it was sweet of Mary to visit you while you were so lonely during your husband's absence, tell her so.

If you think Jane is a beautiful and talented or charming girl, don't hesitate to tell her friends and family when she is under discussion.

Be generous with your praise and sparing with your criticism. Everyone shuns an acid-tongued woman. And everyone is drawn to a woman who is free with her sincere compliments.

Question: When there is a Thomas Brown, Sr., and Thomas Brown, Jr., has a son Thomas Brown, should the last-named be designated as Second or Third?

Answer: He would be Thomas Brown III, although for general purposes, this designation is not used.

Present your problems to Miss Markel, who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers enclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

agreed in the United States that nobody there could get along with the Russians.

He pointed out to Kuznetsov how the CIO had helped to shape the Marshall plan, participating in its work at every stage. Kuznetsov's reply was to repeat all the old charges of American imperialism.

The partnership between Carey, who looks much younger than his 37 years, and Murray has brought significant results. Murray, who still has a burr in his speech from his native Scotland, is now having a brief rest cure in Mercy hospital in his home town, Pittsburgh.

While Murray has been working with Carey on the international front, being in frequent telephonic conversation with TUC executives in London, he has at the same time been warring against communist influence in the CIO. The past year has seen communist intrigues removed from virtually all posts of influence in the CIO and its affiliates.

It can be argued that they never should have been allowed to rise to positions of influence. But that is history and history is the quiet revolution that has thrown them out.

MORAVIA

MISSIONARY MEETING
The Lucy Henderson Missionary Society, Group No. 2, of the Moravia Presbyterian church met at the home of Mrs. Stanley Brest on Wednesday evening, Feb. 2, with twelve members present.

A very interesting program was presented by Mrs. Clarence Cotton. Different activities for the coming year were discussed.

At the close of the meeting, a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Stanley Brest, aided by Helen Cotton and Emma Brest. Next regular meeting will be on March 2.

BIRTHDAY PARTY
Miss Fannie Lee Isaac was very pleasantly surprised Saturday afternoon when a group of youngsters gathered at her home to help her celebrate her seventh birthday.

The afternoon was spent in playing games, after which a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Pauline Isaac and Mrs. Mary Allen.

Fannie Lee received many nice gifts for the occasion.

BOOST SUPPORT FEE
EBENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 9.—(INS)—The Cambria county court today took cognizance of the increased cost of living in the matter of paternity suits.

The court ruled that in the future the father will be directed to pay $20 a month for the support until the child reaches the age of 16.

For many years the rate has been $15 a month.

The highest temperature ever recorded in the United States was 134 degrees Fahrenheit at Greenland Station, Death Valley, California.

words, some of them longer but most of them familiar."

Be patient with that child, I entreated this mother, in answering her. Don't let yourself show amazement or the slightest vexation over her miserable reading. Just see how painfully she labors over those words without getting the meaning! Gladly, kindly read to her the daily assignments of each subject.

Willing to Practice
When she knows you appreciate and understand her difficulties and really put yourself in her place, she will be willing to practice at reading for fifteen minutes a day from very easy materials of about fourth or fifth grade level.

in order to improve her reading skill. Of course, you will be sure no other child is present then to embarrass her. Do help this suffering daughter to save her face and gain in hopefulness.

It may also help this girl for you to show her how to break up long words into syllables and to recognize the basic sounds and sound combinations. If you can really help her she will love you more and be eternally grateful to you. Before long you will see her brightening up and growing into a more happy and attractive person. Believe Cardinal Had Been Drugged Before Confessing

Top Catholic Leaders in Austria Express Strong Conviction That Mindszenty Was Drugged

VIENNA, Feb. 9. (INS)—Top Catholic leaders in Austria, in close touch with Hungarian refugees, expressed the strong conviction today that Josef Cardinal Mindszenty was drugged when he confessed his "guilt."

They echoed the expressed belief of Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, and of former Hungarian officials, all of whom say the actions and words of Cardinal Mindszenty are utterly unlike the man they knew.

A member of the household of Theodore Cardinal Innitzer, archbishop of Vienna, said:

"The former life and attitude as well as the courage of Cardinal Mindszenty are completely different from his behavior at the trial."

Prisoner Was Broken
Prof. Otto Mauer, leaders of the Austrian Catholic action organization, declared:

"Photographs show very clearly that the prisoner was broken under the influence of drugs. He was completely altered in appearance and looks, strange to those who knew him."

Dr. Wriedrich Funder, editor of the Catholic weekly "Die Furche," said that his publication in the next issue will carry a complete account of talks with refugees, lawyers and psychologists supporting the theory that Cardinal Mindszenty was drugged.

Dr. Funder said he is convinced the Hungarian primate was given an overdose of a drug similar to veronal which is a hypnotic barbiturate.

He said this overdose would make Cardinal Mindszenty confess falsely and act similarly at his trial.

Some New Paris Creations Display Shorter Skirts

PARIS, Feb. 9. (INS)—Christian Dior, whose creations two years ago are credited with starting the "new look," unveiled his new collection Tuesday, showing some shorter skirts.

The collection included 170 new creations and its showing lasting three hours with the audience applauding repeatedly.

Showing of the collection left the audience goggle-eyed. Star of the show was a beautiful model known as Sylvie who is famed because she was what is reputed to be the smallest waistline in Paris—20.4 inches.

A beautiful Chinese model also attracted stares.

One Woman Thrown Out
Only one event marred the opening. Dior himself threw out one woman who was making sketches of the gowns—a practice that naturally is strictly forbidden.

Dior's new gowns have what is called a studied "deceptive" effect achieved by the use of large applied pockets or winged lapels on the bodice.

This contrasts with a recent showing of Jacques Fath who utilized the narrow chest for what he called the perpetually modest woman.

Dior on the other hand showed a tendency to emphasize the bustline, while still keeping his characteristic rounded, natural shoulder line.

His new use of pockets and lapels, however, produced the impression of an expanded chest, giving a square look.

There also are applied pockets on some of the skirts reminiscent of Gaucho pockets.

Dior's new, shorter skirts are ankle-length for evening although some, very fluffy gowns reach to the floor.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Ewing of New Castle were recent guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. Martha McCaslin.

Dale Shifflet of Camp Pickett, Va., is spending a 15-day furlough with his mother, Mrs. Alvin McFarland.

The Ladies' Missionary society of the Unity Baptist church met Friday at the home of Mrs. Elinor Leichter for an all day meeting. The day was spent in quilting, with a beautiful luncheon at noon. Mrs. Dorothy Marshall led the devotions. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Goodnight on February 24.

Mrs. Mary Hunt of East Brook is spending several days with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Don Reddick, of Grove City.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Marshall and George of Camp Run were guests on Friday of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. West and daughters of East Brook spent Sunday with the former's parents, T. C. West, Sr., and family. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craig and son of East New Castle were also guests in the same home.

Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Ritenour and son Edward Ritenour of Bridgeville were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. West, Sr.

Mrs. Helen Lenhart spent the weekend at the home of her brother and family near Ellwood.

Mrs. Catherine Kirker and son Jimmie of Bridgeville were guests Sunday of the former's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. West.

Errol Flynn's Marriage Heads Toward Divorce

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 9. (INS)—Errol Flynn's marriage appeared headed for a final count today, unless he can come up with one of those miracles like he does in his movies.

For the first time since she separated from her dashing film star husband last October, Nora Edington Flynn came out flatly and announced that she is going to get a divorce from Errol Flynn.

Preliminary talks, she declared, already have begun. Said the red-haired beauty:

"I am not going back to Errol. He knows of my decision. As soon as we can reach an agreement on the details, I am going to file suit for divorce."

Asked whether she will seek her freedom in California, or via some quicker route, Nora replied: "I don't know yet."

The Flynn's were married in Mexico in 1943 and have two daughters, Deidre and Rory. The couple has battled frequently in the past.

Says Recovery Plan In Europe Beating Soviet

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9. (INS)—W. Averell Harriman, Marshall plan roving ambassador, told the House Foreign Affairs committee that the recovery plan is winning Europe away from Communism. He said:

"We see the break from Moscow domination by Yugoslavia, disunion within the ranks of the Communists in other satellites. In spite of the tragic events in Hungary to day, the spread of tyranny has been arrested."

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Squire Donald Klopfer was peddling a bicycle across a pasture on his Flemington estate when his prize bull spotted him, lowered his head, and charged after him. Klopfer barely got himself and his bike over the fence in safety. "Durn near got ye that time," observed his neighbor, Carl Brandt. "Durn near gets me every time," answered Klopfer laconically.

Messmore Kendall, the Broadway play backer, tells in his autobiography of his youthful experience as personal secretary to President Theodore Roosevelt. No matter how carefully he typed a letter, he was distressed to note that T. R. always made a correction or added a postscript by hand. He finally asked the president, "Are these mistakes mine, or do you just change your mind about the wording of every letter you dictate?" "Neither," Teddy Roosevelt assured him patiently. "It's just that I've discovered people treasure a letter from the president more when he has added something in his own handwriting."

Western Plains Storms Give Army Opportunity For Large-Scale Effort

By MAJ. GEN. JOHN P. LUCAS
Deputy Commander U. S. Fifth Army

(Written For U. S. Special Service)
OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 9.—"Operation Snowbound," in the western Great Plains region, is providing the U. S. Army with an opportunity to conduct large-scale winter operations under most adverse conditions.

It is readily apparent also that this disaster operation is proving a most important opportunity to test equipment and methods of conduct under actual Arctic conditions in the field.

The Fifth Army's primary mission in the states of Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming, where the president declared a federal emergency to exist, is one of relief.

Reach Over 40,000

More than 40,000 persons in distress have been reached, 18,000 miles of blocked roads opened, and well over one million head of livestock given access to food and water.

The army has been glad to move in on a peacetime relief mission, and at the same time it has been very fine training for the Fifth Army staff—under the able leadership of Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick of the 10th Army (Burma) zone.

All of the key units are operating exactly as they would in time of war and actual battle. Snowfighting equipment has been assembled from all available sources. Many of the jeeps, bulldozers, and weasels used had to be taken from storage, processed for this type of operation, and delivered to the points where they were to be employed. In the case of weasels, particularly this included also the training of drivers for this important vehicle.

Use 1,200 Bulldozers

Approximately 1,200 bulldozers and many cargo carriers, snowplows and motor graders were in the field by the end of the first week. Personnel engaged now totals something in excess of 4,000 men.

Unquestionably, much of the value from the standpoint of possible military operations under such conditions will be derived from this experience.

Well-equipped personnel from the army's mountain training command at Camp Hale, Colo., quickly proved the benefits of the training they had received in such winter-type operations, especially in performing rescue missions.

This clearing of roads can be of invaluable aid to an army engaged in other, more deadly rescue operations. The morale with which the men approached the problem has been especially satisfying.

Aggressive Offensive

All of us went into "Operation Snowbound" with the spirit of an aggressive offensive. Such is the same spirit a group must carry into conflict.

This determination was reflected today in a remark by General Pick. Reporting from his headquarters in Omaha that strong winds had drifted snow and refilled all roads opened in Wyoming and some 40 per cent of those opened in South Dakota, he added matter-of-factly:

"It simply means that we are going to redouble our efforts and will soon have those roads open again."

Rewards Offered For Capture Of Aliquippa Slayer

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., Feb. 9.—(INS)—Rewards for information leading to the capture of the killer who raped and fatally beat 15-year-old Margie Bankowski totaled $3,750 today as baffled police continued investigations without a single solid suspect.

Officers have questioned more than 40 suspects since the girl's body was found on a slag heap near Aliquippa last Friday.

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 9.—If any young woman, standing with reluctant feet where work and college meet, wants a little free advice about his future life work, I am now giving out with it.

Go south, young man, go south. Don't waste time on Horace Greeley and the west. The mother lode is down here, and is she loaded! This place is crawling with widows, all as rich as the relic of the late Mr. Croesus.

Getting to be a millionaire is obviously very wearing work since so many of them go early to their reward, leaving behind a lonely widow with a bank full of folding money.

Any young man who would rather marry a million than kill himself making it can only regard Palm Beach as a land of golden (22-carat) opportunity.

After all, the good book adjures us to comfort widows—and there's a heap of comforting to be done here. For now, as always, there is a great dearth of "extra men" in Palm Beach. The women always far outnumber the men, especially eligible men.

The latter usually fall into two classes: too young or too old—either in kindergarten or in senile decay.

In Single Season
Any half-way personable man with a change of linen, a pair of white pants, a dinner jacket and a working knowledge of the two-step can scarcely fail to meet his fate and her fortune here in a single season.

This is one of Palm Beach's eternal verities: It was true when I came here twenty years ago, when I left here ten years ago, and is going stronger than ever today.

I once knew a man who had to decide whether to buy a winter overcoat and work like a fool up north, or come south and marry one. He made the wise decision, came south, picked off a widow with wads of money and is now one of the social arbiters of Palm Beach.

Arthur Murray's dancing boys have always had a particular appeal for the lush and lonely widow. Apparently a man who is fast on his feet in the rhumba has a special appeal for widowed ladies with nothing but time and money on their hands. Six lessons from Mrs. Lazogian and the lad winds up married and on the gray train for life.

Even the scenery and the weather work in behalf of an ambitious man with his eye on the main chance. Palm Beach is as beautiful as romance itself. The days are full of warmth and sun. And the nights are soft and brilliant with a million stars. Any lady and her lucre look good in this setting.

The questing gent ought to be able to dance, drive a car, play a good game of bridge, know the rudiments of backgammon and have a fund of small talk.

Real Social Security
Of course, if the lad is really good at bridge and backgammon, he may be able to support himself here indefinitely without recourse to matrimony. Men have lived high, wide and handsome in Palm Beach for years with no other visible means of support than a deck of cards and a backgammon board.

But the man who is looking for real social security should not overlook the rich widow. Men with courage and vision have come here as shoes salesmen, as hosts in cocktail lounges, as brokers' clerks, dance instructors, and real estate salesmen and wound up as the legal consorts of some of America's queens of finance.

The real pitch is to go about any task, no matter how menial, with an air of quiet and noble resignation, as if one had seen better days. If one can look like a brave fellow, making a new start in life determined to mend the family fortunes, it gives the whole picture an aura of princely suffering.

Before long, the rumor spreads that the charming boy is really a Romanoff in disguise, or something equally Hollywoodian. The lonely ladies love it. They, too, have suffered.

If he plays his cards well, our hero in no time will be fighting for his honor in a half dozen patios owned by an equal number of widows in the chips.

So pretty soon, he gets tired of struggling. He gives up and makes an honest man of himself. He marries the money—I mean, the widow. And settles down to a long life of concentrated leisure.

And suppose all play and no work does make Jack a dull jerk? Who paged Einstein?

Select Jury For Trial Of Girl

Eighteen-Year-Old Pittsburgh Girl Being Tried For Death Of Great Aunt

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Jurors in the murder trial of juvenile court ward Deloris Waldo today will visit the basement of the house where the 18-year-old girl is alleged to have killed her great-aunt, Mrs. Gertrude Norris.

Judge Sara M. Soffel granted a motion by defense attorney Charles J. Margiotti to have the jurors view the scene of the slaying despite an objection by prosecuting attorney Samuel Strauss at the close of Tuesday's session.

Margiotti said he wanted the jury to fix the details of the basement "firmly in their minds."

Eighty-one talismen were screened before the jury of eight women, four men and two alternate women finally was selected Tuesday afternoon.

Strauss said the state would not ask the death penalty for Miss Waldo because there are "mitigating circumstances." He explained the prosecution would seek a "conviction on whatever grade of crime is called for by the evidence." He added:

"There are elements of first degree murder in this case and also a question of second degree murder."

The prosecution has charged that Miss Waldo struck her 61-year-old great-aunt with a flower pot during an argument last May 29, then ignited rags that were placed near the unconscious woman's body.

Sodality Names New Officers At Hillsville Meeting

On Sunday, February 6, at 2 p.m. the Young Ladies Sodality of St. Lawrence church, Hillsville, held their annual installation of new officers. The new officers installed were as follows: Prefect, Sarah Lagnese; vice prefect, Mary Gallo; secretary, Constance Marucci; treasurer, Eleanor Donofrio; Eucharistic committee, Mary Sackin; Catholic Truth committee, Thresa Mittica; Our Lady's committee: Mary Ann Mediate; Apostolic committee, Rita Gennara; Social Life committee, Rita Catala; publicity committee, Mary Veltré. Rev. Fr. Joseph Fabbri, the Sodality's spiritual director, gave a sermon stressing the fact that the Sodality motto "To Jesus Through Mary."

The services were closed with benediction of Blessed Sacrament with Rev. Fr. Fabbri officiating.

HARRISBURG—Preliminary estimates indicate that Pennsylvania's steel production in 1948 exceeded 27,000,000 tons and is comparable with the state's all-time peak of 1943, the state planning board of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce points out. The value of the products of Pennsylvania's iron and steel industries is nearly one-fourth that of the entire manufacturing of the state.

Court House

'Isaak Waltons' Can Get Licenses

Fishing Licenses On Hand—
Sale Thus Far Slow—
Union Township To Levy Wage Tax

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

It is a long way at present to the days when game fish can be caught, but the licenses for such sport are on hand in the office of Don I. Neal, county treasurer.

Thus far the lads who like the finny sport have been a trifle shy in picking up their tags but the rush should be on soon.

DUTY OFF THE BENCH
Now and then some citizen who gets into the court house only at rare intervals, takes a look into the court rooms and finds no judge in either one.

He may wonder if the judges are on vacation or if they have run out of work. Neither explanation is the answer most of the time. Judges have more work off the bench than they do on. A case that takes a day to argue may require a week or even two weeks of research and opinion writing before the opinion can be filed.

An example is one opinion that is just about ready for filing. It concerns a will case and will cases usually have little precedent to follow. They require an exhaustive research, a lot of consideration and usually a lengthy opinion that will be scanned closely for reversible error.

Such opinions are not made up between 9 and 5. Often it takes long into many nights reading cases that seem to have some similarity, digesting lengthy opinions of other courts, comparing cases for points of similarity.

Orphans court cases usually require the most work. It has been said that "no will has a father," which is to say that every will is a new case where it is contested. The work of a judge brings to mind the retort of a professional man who was once asked how much he made per hour. "I don't know" was the answer. "I get paid for what I know, not for what I do."

UNION TOWNSHIP IN LINE
The last panel of the tax "iron curtain" about New Castle has been made. Union township school district will advertise shortly its intention to levy a ten mill wage tax, thus completing what has been jestingly called the "tax iron curtain."

With Union township levying the tax, all townships surrounding the city have signified their intention. Shenango, Neshannock, Hickory, Taylor and now Union, all have or will adopt the provisions of Act 481.

Here's our Price

and here's what's in it!

PRINTED here are current prices on Buick cars—delivered locally—complete and ready to run.

We invite you to compare them, dollar for dollar—with particular eye to what the price includes.

Every Buick price here includes such present-day "musts" as an underseat heater, a fine-toned radio, back-up lights built into the car rather than hung on the bumper, windshield washers installed at the factory.

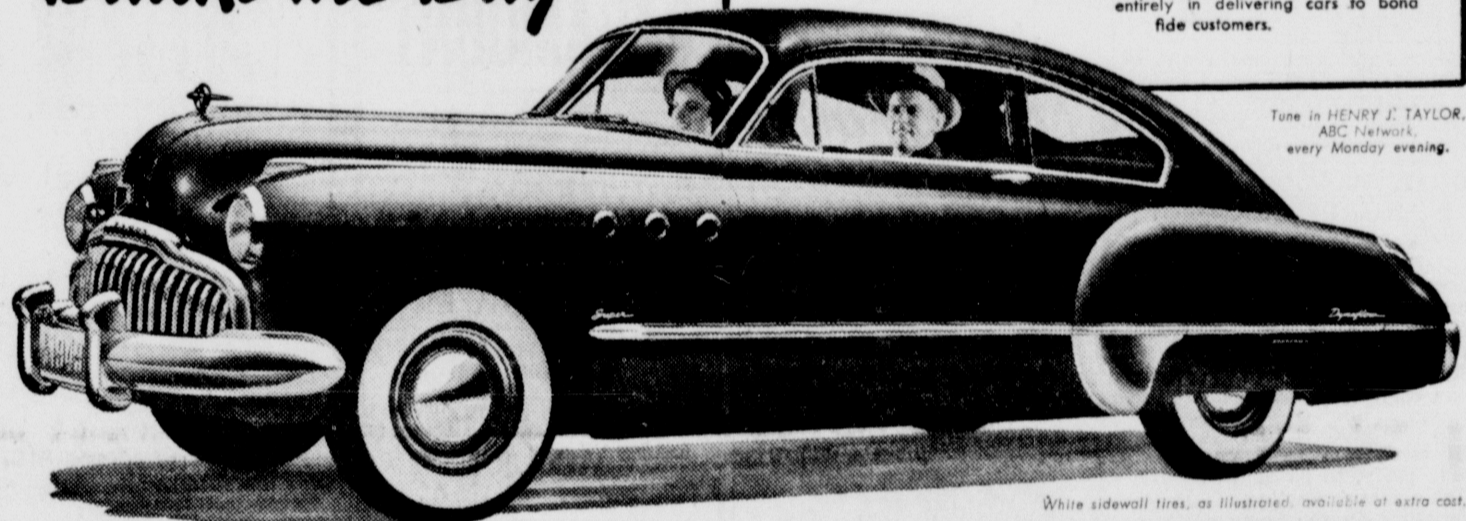

ROADMASTER prices include Dynaflo Drive, that super-smooth transmission available only on Buicks.

Every price includes super-soft tires—plus the extra comfort of the widest rims in the industry. Every price includes Fireball valve-in-head power—plus new self-setting valve lifters.

So your dollars buy a matchless combination of ride and room and performance, of style—and size—and stepped-up visibility. And you get the four-square deal described in the panel.

So go ahead and shop the cars. Check the prices. Check what's in them. Check the deal you get. You'll end up at a Buick dealer, getting your order in!

Faculty Member Fills In Play Role In Emergency

David E. MacArthur of the speech department faculty at Westminster college is proving these nights that he can not only teach acting but can also act. He is playing the role of "Papa" in the student play, "I Remember Mama," which opened in the Little Theatre Saturday night and continues through Saturday night.

MacArthur's part is in the tradition of the theatre that "The show must go on." Two nights before the play was scheduled to open, the student scheduled to play the part had to withdraw. Pressed for time, Coach Donald O. Barbe invited MacArthur to take the role. He learned the lines in two nights and the audiences have been delighted by his performances.

STOMACH AILMENTS, WEAK KIDNEYS, RHEUMATIC PAINS, ARTHRITIS, NEURITIS and such complaints as Headaches, Nervousness, Acids, Toxins, Bloating, Lack of Energy, Poor Appetite, Underweight, Dizzy Spells.

Druggists Health!
NO MATTER how long you have been suffering from stomach, kidney and rheumatic distress, and what drugs you have tried before, you can, now, hope for relief if you take GEO-MINERAL. With your eyes SEE the results seven days after you start taking it.

DRUGGISTS. Chemists cannot make GEO-MINERAL. It comes from the earth—Nature's laboratory. Contains NO dose, NO alcohol, NO oil. ONLY Nature's minerals—the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments.

Wonder Minerals
FOR THOUSANDS of years sufferers, on advice of doctors, go to mineral springs to get cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Mineral Springs in Georgia. He was helped or would not have gone there twice a year.

WE HAVE all heard of the miraculous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thonon in ancient Greece, where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

IF YOU ARE a sufferer, and can not go to the mineral springs, try GEO-MINERAL which contains a blend of the same minerals that can be found at the world's best springs. The minerals in it may work miracles.

Amazing Results
WATCH your elimination from your bowels two or three days after you start using GEO-MINERAL. The waste, black as coal, will break away and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities—poisonous waste—coming out of your kidneys, and feel the relief. Be sure to watch for all this to realize its priceless value.

MEDICAL records show 65% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional mineral-iron anemia. When you feel nervous, dull, tired, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite when your eyes lack that bright spark and your mind brilliance, when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, and life seems not worth living, with worry wearing you down—it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood.

WE URGE everyone to try GEO-MINERAL. Do not hesitate one moment. Go to your drug store now. Get one bottle. Use it one week. If you are not 100 per cent satisfied, we will refund your money. REGARDLESS of how long you have been suffering, and how many medicines you have tried before, GEO-MINERAL may be the remedy you need!

TRY it today! It may do wonders for you—and be the best investment for your health. Make you feel, eat, sleep, work and enjoy life better. GEO-MINERAL, 1 bottle $1.10, 6 for $6.00.

Broadcasts Were Designed To Hinder War Effort Of U.S.

German Witness Tells Of Purpose Of 'Axis Sally' War Broadcasts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(INS)—A German witness told the "Axis Sally" trial Tuesday that the American-born woman's broadcasts for the Nazi radio were designed to hinder the United States war effort.

The witness was Hans von Richter, who was assistant manager of the USA zone of the German overseas radio during the latter years of the war. He testified in support of charges of treason against Mildred E. Gillars.

Over strenuous defense objections, Von Richter gave this answer in a heavy German accent when asked by Prosecutor John M. Kelley to state the purpose of the "Sally" broadcasts called "Midge at the mike."

He answered: "They were designed to make the people not to follow the policies of the administration and their war effort."

The jury then heard a recording of a "Midge" broadcast in which a voice which has been testified as that of Miss Gillars discussed a magazine article by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Supreme Court Of Military Law Asked For U.S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Defense Secretary Forrestal asked Congress today to set up a "supreme court" of military law as part of a new uniform code of justice for all the armed services.

The three member "supreme court" known as the judicial council, would be composed of civilians drawing $17,500 a year, the same salary paid U. S. appellate judges. The council would be the final court of appeals on all cases involving courts martial and military law.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 9.—(INS)—A movie make-up stylist made up his mind today that George Washington and Abraham Lincoln could have been the finest film character actor of all our presidents.

Max Factor, Jr., inspired by the fact that this is the natal month of both the Great Emancipator and the Father of His Country, thumbed through a stack of history tomes and popped up with the following data:

"If they had lived today," he said, "both Lincoln and Washington could hardly have failed to earn, if they wished to, a luxurious living as Hollywood character actors."

"Both were definitely distinctive and commanding appearance types. And each had more than the average command of histrionic ability."

Hard To Duplicate
Washington's countenance, the make-up maestro opined, is the 5 doctors prove this plan breaks the laxative habit

If you take laxatives regularly—here's how you can stop!
Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you may break the laxative habit. And establish your natural powers of regularity. Eighty-three per cent of the cases tested did it. So can you.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead: Every night for one week take 2 Carter's Pils. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then—nothing! Every day: drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity.

Five New York doctors proved this plan can break the laxative habit. How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's Pils "unblock" the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further—Carter's Pils contain no habit-forming drugs.

Break the laxative habit... with Carter's Pils... and be regular naturally. When worry, overeating, overwork make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's Pils temporarily. And never get the laxative habit. Get Carter's Pils at any drugstore for 35¢ today. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

most difficult of all presidential faces to recreate in authentic likeness for a Hollywood flicker. Lincoln's, on the other hand, probably is the easiest.

Factor explained that the "Washington" facial scheme is smoothly regular without pronounced ruggedness of structure—except for a prominent nose—upon which to focus make-up endeavor.

He added: "Washington also had an unusual and hard-to-duplicate eye expression involving a pronounced droop of the eyelids at their outer corners."

The make-up man thinks that actor Alan Mowbray has given the most outstanding screen portrayals of president Washington. Mowbray's face, he said, requires a minimum of make-up treatment because his facial structure is identical to the first of the presidents.

Abraham Lincoln's are a cinch to concoct for the movies. The Civil War chief executive possessed "rugged features that can be duplicated in plastic flesh make-up on an actor's face. And his beard helps make any likeness more authentic."

In Factor's book the most classic portrayals of Lincoln have been done by Walter Huston and Raymond Massey. The fact is, Factor said, both actors own naturally evident feature ruggedness that closely resembled the facial characteristics of Lincoln.

Terrific Job
Factor considers the countenance of Franklin D. Roosevelt as another of the most difficult of all presidents to bring to film. So he rates the impersonation presented several semesters ago of Godfrey Tearle in "The Beginning or the End" as a make-up masterpiece.

The portrayal of president Truman by Arthur Baker in the same picture also is considered by Factor as "a terrific job."

He tabs Burgess Meredith's portrayal of president Madison in "The Magnificent Doll" a few years ago as another presidential make-up achievement of major caliber. Next to Washington and FDR, Factor thinks the most difficult presidents to duplicate are William Taft, Herbert Hoover, Calvin Coolidge, Theodore Roosevelt, Andrew Jackson and Woodrow Wilson.

Contempt Charges Against O'Malley's Defense Counsel

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9.—(INS)—The Commonwealth on Tuesday instituted contempt proceedings against Lemuel B. Schofield, defense counsel in the misconduct trials of former Chief Magistrate John J. O'Malley.

Attorney General T. McKeen Chidsey personally petitioned the state supreme court asking that Schofield be punished for his "gross misconduct" in handling the O'Malley defense.

O'Malley was acquitted of misconduct in office accusations by a jury which deliberated less than two hours.

Specifically, Chidsey charged Schofield with "affronting" Judge W. Russell Carr, specifically assigned by the supreme court to try the case, and with "circumventing the ends of justice" by disobeying the orders of the court.

Chidsey also accused Schofield of "inciting the jury to disregard the court's instructions."

The petition stated: "The attorney general believes this matter so serious as to require his personal presentation of the facts to the supreme court."

Both Chidsey and special prosecutor Laurence M. Eldredge assailed O'Malley's acquittal as a "gross miscarriage of justice."

RELIEF TREND UP
HARRISBURG—The week ending January 22 saw Pennsylvania's general assistance rolls continue their rapid upward movement. The week's increase amounted to 1,478 persons and pushed the total number of persons receiving this type of aid past the 50,000 mark for the first time since last April.

Bonded Debt Of City Near Million

Bonded indebtedness of the city of New Castle, outstanding as of January 3, 1949, was $954,000. There was paid off in 1948, $68,000.

Of the original bond amount and now left to pay off are:

1925, Sewage disposal, $350,000 at 4 1/2 per cent, $40,000.
1932, Refunding, $60,000, at 4 1/2 per cent, $29,000.
1936, Refunding, $100,000, 3 per cent, $76,000.
1937, Refunding $70,000, at 3 per cent, $40,000.
1944, Sewage disposal, $60,000, at 1.15 per cent, $51,000.
1946, Improvements, $500,000, at 1 per cent, $468,000.
1948, City building, $250,000, 2 per cent, $250,000.

Calls For Tax Relief On Home Owners In State

HARRISBURG, Feb. 9.—(INS)—A method to relieve home owners from the burden of taxation was called for Tuesday by Gov. James H. Duff.

"I don't know how the home owner can continue to own his home much longer if the cost of government is to be borne by real estate alone," Duff said.

The cost of government at every level is going up and if real estate is going to be asked to pay the cost home owners will be in difficulty, he explained.

"Some method must be devised to relieve home owners of this burden of taxation," he said.

Duff's statement was in answer to a request for comment on a proposed wage tax in Allegheny County. He pointed out that "Allegheny County and every other place" must give relief to real estate.

He said the state's co-called "tax anything law," enacted by the 1947 legislature, was designed to shift the tax burden to other sources of revenue.

TO NAME FIREMEN

Richard I. Davis, safety department director, is awaiting the result of the recent civil service test for firemen.

The commission secretary is now grading the examination papers.

After this is done, and council requests a list of eligibles, four or five firemen will be added to the fire bureau, Mr. Davis reports.

STRIKE IS ENDED
STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Feb. 9.—(INS)—A two-week strike by some 200 Union Workers on a proposed $10,000,000 building program at Pennsylvania State college ended Tuesday.

Three pickets continued to march on the site of a new men's dormitory where one contractor reportedly used bulldozer operators as truck drivers.

The walkout was called because of alleged employment of non-union men.

229TH OFFICER IS GIVEN PROMOTION

Announcement was made today by Lt. Col. George F. Mitchell of the promotion of First Lt. James A. Yohn to the grade of captain with the 229th Field Artillery. Lt. Yohn, who resides in Ellwood City, has risen from the ranks. After graduating from Zellenople high school, he enlisted in the regular army on September 1, 1939, and served for a year in Honolulu with the eighth field artillery. Returning to the United States, he served at Fort Bragg and Fort Sill, artillery training centers, and coming back to Fort Bragg, served as assistant supply officer, assistant communications officer and battalion motor officer. He was promoted to warrant officer in April, 1943, and eight months later was named chief warrant officer, becoming a second lieutenant in March, 1945. He was discharged on October 29, 1945, with the rank of first lieutenant, joining the 229th on July 29, 1947, as commanding officer of Headquarters Battery, where he is performing an outstanding service.

Capt. Yohn is affiliated with the National Tube Co. in Ellwood City. There are still a few openings in the 229th for qualified enlisted men and officers, the pay and promotion opportunities being good. Those interested in more detailed information in regard to these opportunities will be welcomed at Cunningham Armory, near Cascade park, on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of any week.

Tax Rate Set At New Wilmington

Eight Mills To Be Rate On Property Valuation Of About $800,000

(Special To The News)

NE WILMINGTON, Feb. 9.—The borough's real estate tax was fixed at eight mills on an evaluation of approximately $800,000 at Monday night's meeting of council at the fire station. The budget was officially adopted.

The financial report showed that $1400 remained in the treasury. The fiscal year of 1948 was started with a surplus of $5,000, but unusual expenses were encountered.

A number of evergreen trees at the park are to be dug up and replanted. On one of the walks they have grown too thick and the walk cannot be used, Don Garrett will do the work.

George Brown, Arthur Minter and James Glines were named delegates to the convention of municipal officials to be held at Harrisburg Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

"Why Methodists Act the Way They Do" was the subject of a talk given by Rev. George Myers of the Methodist church at Monday night's meeting of the Kiwanis club.

Rev. Myers gave the history of the church and explained some of the principles.
The new point system for awards adopted by the national organization was explained by William Reed.

Guests included Dr. John O. Collins and Robert Kelly, Jr.

An album of records which depict historic events since 1933 to the present time was played at Monday night's meeting of Rotary club at the U. P. church by Robert Galbreath, program chairman for February.

The attendance contest is practically a tie, according to records of David Boyd and Clinton White team captains.

A birthday cake centered the table in honor of Walter Green, Carlton Lehman, Harry Dunham and Harold Burns, all of whom have birthdays this month.

REPORT MURRAY'S CONDITION GOOD

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 9.—INS.—Philip Murray's condition was described as "very well" today by authorities at Mercy hospital in Pittsburgh.

The 62-year-old president of the CIO and the United Steelworkers of America underwent an emergency appendicitis operation last Monday night. Murray had entered the hospital two weeks before for a physical checkup after suffering from a stomach disorder.

His wife said the labor leader has been in poor health for over a month.

Pandoras club members gathered for their Valentine party, Tuesday evening in the South Mill street club rooms, hostesses being, Mrs. Angelo Vito and Mrs. Ralph Staph.

Hankie exchange was held followed by a full course dinner. The Valentine motif predominated. Mrs. Champ, president extended the welcome.

Cards and games were pastimes, prizes going to Mrs. Sam Crisel, Mrs. Ralph Staph and Mrs. Floyd Champ. The latter offered piano selections later. Dancing was another pastime. Mrs. Joseph DiLullo captured the club token, and was also presented with a birthday gift.

Special guests attending were: Mrs. Merle Womer and Mrs. Pat Juliano.

On February 22, the next meeting will be held, Mrs. Joseph Ross and Mrs. Leo Vernino to be hostesses.

Surprise Party
On a recent evening a surprise birthday party was held in honor of Mrs. John Neugebauer, at her home, 520 Haus avenue. The evening was spent in an informal social time. There were 21 guests present.

Refreshments were served at a table beautifully appointed with a centerpiece of lovely red roses. Mrs. Anna Snyder and Mrs. Norman Weller served.

The honoree was the recipient of many lovely gifts, cards and greetings.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Neugebauer, a son of the honoree, of Akron, O., daughter, Mrs. Anna Snyder, Dravosburg, granddaughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kuh, Akron, O., and Mrs. George Thomas, a friend, of Dravosburg.

Mrs. Neugebauer is the mother of seven children, three sons and four daughters. She has nine grandchildren, four of whom were present.

National Officers Of CIO All Renamed

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 9.—(INS)—Philip Murray and all other national officers of the CIO United Steel Workers were re-elected without opposition, unofficial vote totals at the headquarters in Pittsburgh revealed today.

The 930,000 members of the union voted Tuesday. Besides Murray, who is convalescing in a Pittsburgh hospital from an emergency appendectomy performed Monday, these national officers were re-elected:

Van A. Bittner, Pittsburgh, and James G. Thimmes, Maywood, Cal., vice presidents, and David J. Mc-

Donald, Pittsburgh, secretary-treasurer.

The various district elections tabulated also were going to the incumbents. Some of the results have not been received.

Westminster Nips Bethany 70 To 66

Westminster made it a clean sweep of the Bethany series for the season by taking the Bisons 70 to 66 on the West Virginians' home court last night.

Loyal Titan rooters, who followed their favorites to Bethany, were rewarded with an exciting ball game that was in doubt until the last 30 seconds of the contest.

The Washabaugh five had previously laced the Bisons 63 to 48 on the New Wilmington hardwood.

Westminster led throughout the contest. The Titans had a 23 to 14 lead at the end of the first period, added two more points to the margin in the second quarter and took a half-time rest leading 41 to 30.

Titans Lose Three

The game had definite possibilities of developing into a rout in the third period as the visitors gained to a 63 to 47 lead. However, the five personal foul rule started taking its toll in the contest after the intermission and, McCullough, Dembinski and Halas had been forced to the bench by their old nemesis.

The departure of three of the tallest Titans with lots of bank-board savvy signaled the beginning of a Bethany attack that almost turned the tables. The Bisons rallied for 19 points while the blue and white quip garnered only five markers. With 30 seconds remaining, the host club trailed 68-66 and it appeared as if Bethany's brilliant rally would turn a near rout into a sparkling upset. Johnny Abraham, however, came through with a fifty-two pointer to ice the victory for the Titans.

Wagner Hits 17

Bruce Wagner added fuel to the theory that he is one of the most valuable men on the Westminster squad by playing a heady, fast game and tossing in 17 markers. Johnny Abraham and Jackie Jones added 28 more between them.

Mewhirer took individual scoring honors by connecting with eight field goals and six charity heaves. The former Avalon ace was injured in the New Wilmington engagement of the two clubs, but made his presence felt last night with effective shooting and floor play.

The Titans play their fifth consecutive game away from home Saturday night when they engage "Doc" Carlson's Pitt Panthers in Pittsburgh.

Vince Foster Held On Assault Charge

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Feb. 9.—(INS)—Boxing's newest sensation, Omaha, Neb., welterweight Vince Foster, was free on $10,000 bond Tuesday after his arrest near St. Joseph on a criminal assault charge.

The boxer was arraigned and then released pending a preliminary hearing Feb. 23 after the bond was posted by former Circuit Judge Ferd Frankenhoff.

The 22-year-old Nebraskan was taken into custody by Missouri highway patrolmen who seized him in his automobile on a state highway.

Foster is scheduled to fight Charley Fusari Feb. 18 in Madison Square Garden, New York, where he rose to prominence in his class by whipping Tony Pellone recently, inflicting the first knockout of his career upon Pellone.

Coolness And Confidence Win

Can Turn Good Mechanical Player Into Money Winner, Mangrum Says

TELLS HOW HE WON 1946 NATIONAL OPEN

By LLOYD MANGRUM

(Written Exclusively for N. S.)

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 9.—(INS)—Coolness under fire, born of confidence, is one of the greatest assets a golfer can have—that and the ability to putt.

I'd like to tell you a little story. And it's a true one, too, as most anyone can attest who happened to attend the National Open over the rugged Canterbury course in Cleveland in 1946. It was a warm day—even for a native Texan who lives in California—but the way Byron Nelson and Vic Ghezzi were matching me stroke-for-stroke was enough to cause chills.

We were all gunning for the greatest championship in golf and it was a clutch that all three of us weren't going to win it. There could only be one at the end. It seemed like just a matter of who cracked first.

We were even going into the sixty-third hole. Then it happened. I pulled my drive out of bounds for a two-stroke penalty. My approach was short and I topped my fifth shot to end up about as far from the pin as possible and still be on the green.

Three Strokes Distant

If there is such a thing as being three-strokes distant from a pin, that was me. I was at least 75 feet from the hole and when I sized up that green it seemed to stare right back at me. I lined up the putt carefully and deliberately, fully aware that I had used up my allotted number of strokes for par and still had a long way to go.

The crowd fidgeted and probably wondered why a guy was spending so much time on a putt when he had just booted himself out of the tournament. But I had a job to do and I went after it. I stroked the shot and the ball rolled true—clear across that green and into the cup, giving a final leap on hitting the back of the cup before settling down into the hole.

That was a great shot in my life. Sure, it kept me in the contest and I did go on to win the national open in a double playoff with Nelson and Ghezzi. But it did a lot more than that for me.

Winning that open title gave me a new lease on life. I wasn't back long from the European war at the time. I never felt any particular drama while ducking bullets, but I can assure you that it is not a pastime conducive to building a future in golf. A little success can go a long way toward restoring a fellow's confidence in any game, whether it's gin rummy or golf.

Bill Tanner Sets Scoring Record

Bill "Lefty" Tanner set a new season scoring record at the "Y" last night by dumping in the amazing total of 52 points.

The ex-Shenango flash made 25 field goals and connected on two out of five free throws.

Bill is a major league pitching prospect in the Braves farm system. During the off season he works at the pottery and plays a lot of basketball. His stature in the local game picture has been increasing weekly, and his record last night against the G.I. Shine puts the left-handed hot shot near the top of the heap. Tanner was playing for the Rebels who easily defeated the first half champ Shines 90 to 28.

Civics-Shamrocks Win

In two other games on last night, the exhibition schedule, the Civics laced the Wings, 57 to 31, and the Shamrocks blasted the Chiefs 43 to 33. In the first mentioned contest, J. Peterson hit the hoops for 36 points as his mates, the Civics, walked all over the Wings. Marinelli got 19 for the Wings.

Bill Fannin and Bob Miller split 24 markers for the Shamrocks, while St. George and McKee each had eight for the losing Chiefs.

ELLWOOD CITY-WAMPUM Rod & Gun club will meet at their clubhouse Monday night. Lawrence County Sportsman's association will convene in Ecclesian Hall, next Tuesday night, and one week from Friday, the Lawrence County Council of Sportsmen will hold their monthly meeting. . . . Trapping of beaver in Crawford county, has been banned this year. . . . Meadville Sportsmen's club hopes to raise $1,000, for stocking Pike in French creek. It is hoped, if the money is raised, to put 2,000 walleyes in the creek between the upper bridge in Sagertown to Wilson's Chutes bridge. The club hopes the Fish commission will match the 2,000. The commission has not stocked walleyes in French creek for several years. . . . State Game commission says it needs a balance of two million dollars at the start of each year to keep on a pay-as-you-go basis until license fees come in late in the year. Only $547,000, is received during the first nine months. He asks how bills amounting to $2,766,000, be paid with $547,000, which is the reason why the commission favors an increase in hunters licenses when it began the year with $2,000,000, in the game fund.

Featherweight Champion Sandy Saddler, who scored the fight upset of 1948, when he knocked out Willie Pep, will give the ex-titholder a former chance Friday night in New York City. Madison Square Garden is sold out for the fight. It required the colored boy only four rounds to stop Pep, for the first time in his career, and his second defeat in 138 fights. Saddler is favored to win. . . . Tony Janiro, of Youngstown, who boxed in an amateur fight here, is in England. . . . Harry Elwell, the blackface comedian and Dy Jones, Barber Shop quartet conductor, are seriously thinking of staging a minstrel show in the Cathedral, Elwell reports. Already he is framing now jokes. . . . Fifteen Sportswriters from 12 counties adopted a resolution at Franklin recently, in which they urged the PIAA to admit to full membership the Pennsylvania Catholic Interscholastic Athletic association. It now is denied competition for state championships in football, basketball, baseball, track, golf, swimming, cross-country and some other sport events. A year ago the PIAA refused to lift the ban, but left the way open for independent competition between the PIAA and PCIAA schools.

The also signed Bill MacDonald, Jr., who won 15 and dropped seven and who had an earned run average of .264 with Flint, Mich., Class A, Central League club last year. He will be assigned to New Orleans, and report to the Bucs next year. . . . Carl Hughes in the Pittsburgh Press, writes: Traveling salesman—That war-time reminder—"Is this trip necessary?" must have preyed on the mind of Wally Butts after a flying trip to New Castle, in quest of Ralph Paolone, all-state fullback of the WPIAL Class AA champs. To his sorrow, Butts learned Paolone already has been directed into Notre Dame by Fritz Wilson."

When Ralph Mangrum sank a six-inch putt on a course at Tucson, it did the following: won the former U. S. National Open championship $2,000, first prize in the $10,000 event; made him the leading-money winner to date in 1949 with $5,755; set a new 72-hole course record of 263, seventeen under par; tied him with Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, for the low score of the day with five under par 65, and made him the first player to lead the event from start to finish. . . . Forbes field will observe its fortieth birthday, June 30, according to Jimmy Long, publicity agent of the Pirates. . . . Bob Feller, Cleveland hurler, has a telephone installed in his auto. . . . He is hoping he doesn't install a television set. Watching such is akin to mixing gasoline and alcohol.

Forty Sixth annual ABC will be held at Atlantic City, February 12-April 9, inclusive. The tourney will be conducted on Eastern Standard time. All contestants must bowl under their proper name. The lineup of a team can be changed anytime prior to 30 minutes before bowling.
